PARSONAGE BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE

A Blaze at Caledonia Wednesday Afternoon.

Caledonia, O., April 18.—[Special.]—The barn at the M. E. parsonage was totally destroyed by fire, Wednesday afternoon about 3 o'clock. The loss on the structure amounts to $600, with no insurance. The household goods were saved.

JAMES H. EYMON FOR PROBATE JUDGE

Popular Attorney Files Petition for Primary Nomination.

Attorney James H. Eymon has filed a petition, generously signed, as a candidate for the Republican nomination for probate judge. With no other candidate in the field Mr. Eymon's nomination is assured, but he would be strong in a large field of aspirants. He is an able attorney, he is immensely popular personally, and eminently fitted for the office. Mr. Eymon needs no boost for his undisputed primary race, but his nomination will appeal strongly for support at the polls next November.

THREE MEN ARE LANDED IN THE CITY PRISON

Fights Follow Robberies and Filing of Affidavits.

A STRANGER CLAIMS THAT HE IS ROBBED

Says He Loses Watch and Money in Barber Shop—Locked Up on a Charge of Intoxication — John Redding Arrested for Assaulting John W. Kraus—Police Notes.

As an outcome of James Lewis Snyder filing affidavits against Ben Briggs and his wife, both colored, charging them with touching him for $180, and the filing of affidavits against Snyder and Benjamin Housworth by James H. Harmount, who accused them of touching him for his roll of $180, Snyder, Briggs and Harmount were arrested, about 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, by Chief McDonough, Officers Cusick and Babcock.

When arraigned before the mayor Wednesday afternoon, Snyder and Housworth entered pleas of not guilty and their hearings were set for Thursday afternoon. Snyder was ordered over his loss, alleged to have been suffered at the hands of Briggs and his wife, while Harmount wanted to get even with Snyder and Housworth Wednesday evening. Harmount went to Houseworth's place on north Main street where he was given a beating by Snyder. Briggs then entered, and as a result Snyder having filed an affidavit against him, trouble followed.

Briggs, being a man of enormous size and of great strength, Snyder received the worst of the fight and had to be taken to a surgeon to have his head dressed. Briggs claimed that Snyder drew a gun on him, and that after he took the gun away from Snyder he gave him a whipping. Others in the place claim that Snyder was wiping his nose when Briggs struck him and that he never pulled the revolver from his pocket. Thursday, the three fellows were arraigned before the mayor to answer charges of intoxication. All entered pleas of guilty and each was fined five dollars and costs. The hearings of Briggs and his wife, on the charge of touching Snyder for the money, was continued to a later date.

A stranger who gave his name as Gordon, called at police headquarters Thursday morning to complain that he had been touched for his watch and several dollars in money while in a barber shop on north Main street. As the fellow was so much under the influence of drink that he was unable to tell where the shop was Officer Cusick took him to the city prison and locked him up on an intoxication charge. Gordon gave his home as Columbus.

John Redding was arrested in the West End, about 1.30 Thursday morning, by Officers Slagle and Powell on a charge of assaulting John W. Kraus, a night clerk at the Hotel Seymour. That morning Kraus appeared before the mayor and filed an affidavit against Redding. When arraigned Redding pleas guilty to striking Kraus, and the mayor fined him $10 and the costs in the case, and ordered that he stand committed until the fine and costs are paid. He was returned to the prison and is being held pending payment of the amount.

W. E. Holstetter, who was arrested here Wednesday morning by Officer Thompson and held for the Galion authorities, being wanted there on a charge of defrauding a boarding-house keeper out of a bill of $7.25, was taken to Galion by an officer from that place, Wednesday evening. Holstetter is being held there in default of payment of $16.85, the amount of the bill and the costs in the case. In case he is unable to pay, he will probably be sent to the workhouse.

Marion People See Ship.

Judge and Mrs. William E. Sebald saw the mighty White Star liner Titanic, when it was being built at Belfast, Ireland, during their trip abroad last year. Their trip to Belfast, with its world-famous shipyards, was one of the most interesting experiences of their tour through Ireland, Scotland, England and Norway. By reason of having seen the ill-fated ocean greyhound in the making, its sinking with its hundreds of human lives, aside from the horror of the catastrophe, was of peculiar interest to them.

Russell Funeral.

The remains of Clyde, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Russell, residing at Mark and Patton streets, were shipped to Pomeroy for interment Thursday after Health Officer Addison Bain had thoroughly fumigated the Russell home. The child died of septic poisoning, supposed, according to the attending physician's statement, by scarlatina. For a long time it was not known that the child had been afflicted with a contagious disease and it is feared that a number of children have been exposed.

FAMOUS CHIMES AGAIN RING OUT

Making Joyous Music in Ears of Venetians.

CAMPANILE OF ST. MARK'S DEDICATED

Most Impressive Ceremonies in Venice.

Work of Restoring Great Belfry Is in Progress for Ten Years, the New Campanile Being Replica in Every Respect to Old One, Which Collapses After Standing 900 Years—Pope Interested.

Venice, Italy, April 25.—With elaborate and impressive ceremonies and in the presence of distinguished men from all parts of the world, the restored campanile of St. Mark's cathedral was dedicated today. After ten years of silence, the historic chimes once again rang out from the great belfry, making joyous music in the ears of all Venetians. But to no one perhaps in all Italy is the knowledge of the restoration any more welcome than to Pope Pius, whose love for the ancient church and its chimes is a source of deep pride to Venetians

The patriarch of Venice presided at the ceremonies which were held in the cathedral. Among those in the congregation was J. Pierpont Morgan, while Prince Henry, of Prussia, was present as the personal representative of Emperor William of Germany.

Hundreds of tourists from all parts of Europe flocked to Venice to witness the inauguration and hear the music of the restored chimes.

The work of restoring the campanile has been in progress for about ten years, for it was July 12, 1902, that the mighty tower crashed into the plaza that fronts the cathedral. Just as the collapse of the architectural wonder was a national grief, so today the inauguration was an event calling for national rejoicing.

The old campanile was 900 years old and the new is a replica in every respect. The highest skill obtainable was secured to replace the wondrous tower; neither time nor money being spared

Even Wine Is Harmful.

Ithaca, N. Y., April 25.—College students should be total abstainers from alcohol, said President J. G. Schurman, of Cornell university in an address here. Even a small glass of wine a day is harmful, he said, for it was only recently—five years later—that the bureau of corporations was gathering material for Attorney General Wickersham's proposed prosecution of the trust.

The introduction of this documentary evidence in the senate marks the beginning of an aggressive personal campaign on the part of President Taft against his predecessor.

Requested by Democrat.

It is true that the information was sent to the senate as the result of the passage of a resolution introduced by a Democrat, Johnson of Alabama, but the president's friends undoubtedly had knowledge that such a resolution was to be introduced. In less than three hours after the passage of the resolution all of the documents on file in the department of justice, including Roosevelt's confidential letters, were laid before the senate. The publication of these letters will be followed tonight by a speech by President Taft in Boston which will be a severe arraignment of Roosevelt.

After President Roosevelt had held up the harvester suit at the request of George W. Perkins, President Roosevelt obtained a report from Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, in which he recommended that Mr. Perkins' wishes be complied with. The Smith report was sent to the bench forwarded to the senate from the department of justice. It was dated Sept. 3, 1907, about a month later than the letter in which President Roosevelt sent to his attorney general

IOWA SENATOR IS ELIMINATED

Taft Wins Over Cummins in Hawkeye State.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, April 25.—President Taft will go to Chicago with sixteen of the seventy-six delegates from Iowa Senator Albert B. Cummins will have ten. Whether the Iowan's name will be presented to the national convention at all is a question. State leaders, who assert that the steam roller was used on the Cummins men, declared today the delegates would not be released from their pledge to the Iowan, and that they would be kept as a nucleus of a "dark horse" movement.

Taft supporters assert that Taft's victory eliminates Cummins entirely as a possibility in Chicago

Taft forces controlled the convention by four-to-one votes. The first test showed he had 761 delegates to Cumming' 720. Then short positive resolutions endorsing the Taft administration and pledging the delegates-at-large to him were passed

"It was an old-time caucus convention. We were beaten. The proxies that fell into the hands of Taft men," was Cummins' comment as he left for Washington.

MINERS WIN IN STRUGGLE

Threatened Strike of Men Is Practically Settled.

THE MINE MANAGERS TO ACCEPT TERMS

Agreement Will Be Put Up to Miners.

Under Agreement, Men Will Get Ten Per Cent. Increase, Abolishment of Sliding Scale—Men Claim Other Concessions Practically Mean Recognition of Union—Contract To Be Drawn Up.

New York, April 25.—The threatened strike of 160,000 anthracite coal miners, which has been pending for two months, has been practically settled with victory for the miners, it was announced today by representatives of the miners, who are in conference at the Hotel Victoria here.

The mine managers, it is said, have accepted a tentative agreement submitted to them and all that remains is to ratify this agreement by a vote of the mine workers throughout the country. Its acceptance is practically certain, the union officials declared. The miners, under this proposed agreement, will be granted a ten per cent increase in wages, abolishment of the sliding scale and the right to have committees in each colliery to adjust any differences that may arise without first making direct appeal to the head of the union.

Means Recognition.

The miners claim that this last concession practically amounts to recognition of their union by the mine owners. A contract embodying all of these points is now being drawn up.

It will be effective for four years from the date of its signing by representatives of the miners and managers.

May 2 next, members of the general committee of miners and the managers will meet in this city and receive the reports of the voting of the miners. If the agreement is accepted, the contract will be drawn and signed by representatives of both sides

LINER IGNORES TITANIC'S CALL

The Californian Could Have Saved Many.

TRUTH IS TOLD BY AN ENGINEMAN

Makes Charge Against Captain of Californian.

Rather Than Risk of Sinking His Ship, the Captain Ignores Distress Signals of Titanic, Believing Ship Is a Tramp Steamer. Later Learns Truth, but Too Late To Aid Sinking Vessel.

New York, April 25.—Ernest Gill, a donkey engineman on the Leyland liner, Californian, who stopped off in New York on his way from Boston to Washington to testify before the senate committee investigating the Titanic horror, declared today that the White Star liners signals of distress were seen on the Leyland liner, which was but a few miles away, but were ignored by Captain Stanley Lord. Gill said he would swear to the truth of this charge upon his arrival in Washington

The engineman further alleged that Captain Lord was informed before 12.30 and 12.45 Monday morning, April 15, that the Titanic was sinking.

Gill's story, in part, is as follows:

"Captain Lord was in his cabin at the time the signal rockets were seen. He at once gave orders to heave to and stand by the White Star ship. The Californian encountered a dangerous field of ice and Captain Lord, rather than run the risk of sinking his ship, turned about to avoid the ice. At the time, I learned from officers the next day, we were but a few miles from the Titanic when we first saw the rockets. The second officer reported the rockets to the captain. The first, he said, he thought was a shooting star. The second he saw clearly. Others on the Californian saw the signals, also, Gill charges. Gill made affidavit, swearing to the truth of his narrative.

The wireless operator on the Californian had already gone to bed, Gill said. First Officer Stewart rushed to the wireless man's bunk after the rockets had been fired and tearing him from the bunk exclaimed:

"For God's sake get to your key! Some ship has been sending up rockets and we have done nothing."

At this time, Gill says, the engines had been stopped and the Californian was lying to.

UNARMED CITIZEN KILLED BY BANDIT

Is Getting Better of Robber When Later Uses Gun.

Chicago, April 25.—John Angel, living in a fashionable North Side district, was shot and killed early today by one of three holdup men for whom he had fought a desperate battle near his home. Angel was unarmed, but refused to submit when ordered to throw up his hands. He was winning the battle when one of the bandits, floored with a blow to the point of the chin, drew a revolver as he lay on the sidewalk and shot Angel through the abdomen. The robbers escaped.

THE COLONEL'S IDEA

Theodore Roosevelt Uses the Standard Oil Company to Illustrate.

Theodore Roosevelt says that favoritism of bosses; that I represent special interests and that I am a tool of the trust; that I am stealing delegates and using dirty implements in my campaign and that the patronage of the government is being shamelessly used to secure my nomination. I propose to take up those charges one by one.

The Colonel's Idea.

Theodore Roosevelt uses the Standard Oil company to illustrate. He said that he would not be a candidate again for president and that he considered it would be a calamity to himself. But as time went on, that determination grew less and less until finally, under the spur of some dukes or one governors, Theodore Roosevelt changed his mind. He forgot all about his solemn pledge to the people when he declared and repeated his declaration that he would not again be a candidate.

Roosevelt delivered his speech in Ohio, the "Charter of Democracy" as he called it, afterward announced himself as candidate for president and has since that time in countryside tours, been assailing my administration and assailing my policies in line with Theodore Roosevelt as a proposition for the recall of judges. I believe it struck at our liberty, that it tended to undermine our constitution and I pointed out the changes that would result if the recall applied to the judiciary.

Won't Quarrel With Him.

I have attacked Theodore Roosevelt, and he won't make a quarrel with me now, because I won't quarrel with him. His Ohio speech did not have the effect he expected. So after three, with his ambition in the precedent he has engaged himself to a house of my administration and to harass generally against me.

So far as any personal feeling is concerned, I would not deign a reply. I would allow the future to judge the truth of what he said, whether I have been sincere to the cause and I represent in the Republican party or whether the constitution should be preserved and not destroyed. Mr. Roosevelt has deceived the people, and deceiving them now, and can keep silent because the people represent is entitled to have a defense.

Colonel Roosevelt says that I favor

Many Bodies Seen.

"Bodies are numerous in latitude 47.45 north, longitude 48.37 west, extending many miles east and west. Mail ships should give this a wide berth. EXPLOSION OF SHIP'S BOILERS

Leads to Sinking of Gigantic Titanic,

AFTER SHE STRIKES MOUNTAINOUS BERG

The Leviathan Sinks Slowly After Explosion

The Great Liner's Band Sends Out Strains of Nearer My God to Thee as Vessel Makes Its Final Plunge—Wireless Operator Hero of Ship's Men—How Lived Ones Part for the Last Time

New York April 1 —With all its tragic details the complete story of the Titanic disaster the world's greatest sea horror as told here today by the survivors who arrived last night on the Cunard liner Carpathia

After striking an iceberg that towered 150 feet above the water line the Titanic sank slowly As the inrush of the icy waters reached the engine rooms the boilers exploded sending up showers of live flame sparks and smoke that caused the four great funnels of the ship to resemble craters of active volcanoes It is believed that the explosion broke the ships back for she sank at once in water two miles deep She carried down with her leading men of America and England As the ship went down the band was playing Captain Smith stood on the bridge The last glimpse of the ship by those in lifeboats was accompanied by strains of the orchestra The Titanic went down on her nose As she took the final plunge her stern rose high in the air she left the sea covered with struggling men The water and air were bitter cold and they could not survive the exposure There were some cries but these soon died away and nothing more was heard

The narratives of the various survivors gathered into a consecutive story marks one of the most thrilling tales of modern life It is a story filled with heroism unparalled bravery and heroism performed by American business men The were men of millions who had everything to live for and yet in that crisis a test they worked coolly steadfastly to save women and children Then they went down with the White Star liner Titanic the greatest ship afloat

Curtain Drawn Aside

When the Carpathia came into port carrying 705 survivors of the disaster in which 1 were lost the curtain which had hidden the story of the disaster since the first world of it flashed to a startled world Monday morning was drawn aside Here is the real story of the sinking of the Titanic which at 11 o'clock Sunday night struck an iceberg and went to the bottom less than three hours later

The Titanic was afloat with the joy of life on Sunday night when without warning the great liner was rammed against a partially submerged iceberg The blow which was a glancing one did not use much of force but there was not a soul on board who did not know that an accident had happened at all until later The liner struck the berg on the starboard side

Only Captain E J Smith the commander realized that there might be danger and even he did not regard the collision as fatal for in the wireless cabin where Operator Phillips was in connection with Cape Race sent the message ran to hold himself in readiness to flash out a distress signal At the time there was a great throng in the main saloon where the ships orchestra was giving a concert to while the bitterly cold weather some of the passengers were taking advantage of the bright moonlight to stroll upon the decks Survivors who were upon the starboard side said the iceberg on which the vessel struck was at least 150 feet high where exposed

Going at Good Speed

At the time the ship was steaming ahead under nearly a full head of steam about twenty one knots an hour If she had been going slowly the disaster would no probably have reached such horrible proportion Acting under orders from Captain Smith the ships officers passed among the passengers reassuring them when the rumor spread that the ship had struck

Keep cool there is not great danger was the message which was repeated over and again and again gradually becoming monotonous The warning was needless for none save the highest officers of the ship who were in Captain Smith's confidence knew the real gravity of the situation Captain Smith immediately went below and began an examination This showed that quick action was necessary and within fifteen minutes of his first warning the captain again entered the wireless cabin and told Chief Operator Phillips to flash the distress signal

Send the international call for help so that all will understand said Captain Smith Assistant Operator Harold Bride who had been sleeping was standing at Phillips side He thought so lightly of the accident that he made a jesting remark which caused Lotti Smith and Phillips to laugh Some of the passengers who had been sleeping were aroused and left their berths Many hastened on deck to get a glimpse of the berg but so swiftly was it moving in the gulf stream current that within twenty minutes after the vessel had struck the ice mountain had disappeared from view

Passengers Warned

At 11 0 p m fifteen minutes after the collision the first intimation of impending danger was given Officers passed among the passengers warning them to put on life belts and the tarpaulins were cast off the lifeboats and life rafts and the davit guys loosened so that the boats could be swiftly slung over the side Members of the crew also donned life preservers but with studied forethought Captain Smith ordered the principal officers not to don their belts

They were told however to be ready to do so an emergency The ship had then begun to list The wireless was turning out a blue streak of sparks Phillips sat at his key pounding out one S O S call after another He alternated between the S O S and the C Q D so that there could be no possible chance of the signal being misunderstood The first ship to respond to the Titanics appeals was the Frankfurt The second was the Carpathia

Phillips told the Carpathia wireless man that the accident was serious and the White Star liner was sinking by the head

We are putting about and coming to your aid was the reply flashed by the Carpathia At 12 1 o'clock the officers began warning the women to get into the boats Even at this time no one realized that there was any danger Many of the women refused to get into the boats and had to be placed into them forcibly by the crew

Colonel and Mrs John Jacob Astor were walking upon the deck They were approached by Captain H D Stefason of the Swedish embassy at Washington Captain Stefason advised Mrs Astor to leave the ship She demurred saying there was no danger Finally Colonel Astor said

Yes my dear it is better for you to go I will follow in another boat after all the women have been taken off

They kissed and parted It was then full partin

Mrs Washington Dodge of San Francisco wife of another prominent passenger was asleep in her stateroom She was aroused by her husband who urged her to get into a boat So certain were both that the measures were only precautionary and not necessary that they did not even kiss each other good by Mr Dodge embarked in another boat

These incidents are given because they are typical They show how little the passengers knew that they were standing at the brink of eternity

The seven plates and the watertight increased the gap allowing more and more water to pour into the hold The steel frame had been buckled by the impact of the collision and water was rushing into the supposedly watertight compartments Around the boilers and dynamo applying the ships pitch and the wireless outfit were put out of commission Officer Lightoller and the other reporting officers Captain Smith

Coolest Man Aboard

This master mariner who of the White Star line knew that his was doomed to death by all the laws of the sea he did not flinch He was the coolest man on board As lifeboat after lifeboat was filled and swung over the side it pulled on some distance and stood by When the officers began to load the women of the steerage into the boats trouble started Men refused to be separated from their wives Families clamored to get into lifeboats together The ships officer had a hard time subduing one of the steerage passengers

The survivors say that one of the men of the steerage were shot by the ships officer

As the officers were loading the women of the first cabin into the boats they came upon Mrs Isidor Straus the elderly wife of the noted philanthropist She refused to get into a boat but held back saying for her husband to follow Mr Straus tenderly took her in his arms bade her farewell and explained that he must abide the inexorable rule of the sea which says women and children must be saved first

If you do not go I do not go exclaimed the devoted wife She clung to her husbands arms and despite his effort and the efforts of officers to persuade her to get in one of the boats she refused The devoted couple went to death together

While the vessel was going down the call for help were picked up and acknowledged by the White Star liners Baltic and Olympic Both turned their head toward the Titanic but were too far away to render any aid

Band Keeps on Playing

The band which had been playing in session in the main saloon moved out to the open deck and the strains of music rose above the shouts of the officers and the cries of the passengers By 1 o'clock even those who knew nothing of seamanship began to realize by the dangerous angle to which the great liner inclined that she was in grave danger By this time over half of the lifeboats had been sent away and the formed a ring in the darkness about the great ship

The survivors tell of various tunes which the band played as the Titanic was going down According to J H Flynn of Philadelphia one of the rescued passengers the strains of Nearer My God to Thee floated out over the water as the ship plunged to the bottom

Excitement began to run high Major A W Butt military aide to President Taft W T Stead the famous journalist Colonel Astor and other passengers volunteered their services to Captain Smith They helped the officers hold back the male passengers who by this time had become thoroughly frightened As one of the lifeboats was being swung over the ships side a frantic mother who had been separated from her eight year old boy cried out hysterically Colonel Astor was standing by the boat assisting the officers The little boy in the last stage of fright and despair reached out his arms appealingly to his mother but the officer in command of the boat said it would not be safe for another to enter

Astor Works Hard

Colonel Astor seeing a child lying upon the deck stepped quickly and lifted it upon the boys head Lifting up the child he called out

Surely you will not leave a little girl behind

Upon the wreck strewn tide had placed a life preserver upon his companion Phillips while the latter sat at his key Upon returning from Captain Smiths cabin with a message Bride saw a grimy stoker of giant proportions bending over Phillips removing the life belt Phillips would not abandon his key for an instant to fight off the intruder Bride a little man he was subsequently saved but pluckily Drawing his revolver he shot down the intruder and the wireless work went on as though nothing had happened

J Bruce Ismay managing director of the International Mercantile Marine company owner of the White Star line was sitting in the smoke chatting with some friends when he later ran on board He was the first one informed by Captain Smith Ismay rushed to the deck to look at the ice The Titanic mortal wound was the ripping which he saw with small assurance of all aquiver

Nevertheless the greatest survivors who say that Mr Ismay was one of the gallantest of the first lifeboat which pulled away I saw him enter the boat myself I know that the vessel was doomed but I would not think of leaving The wind had been blowing that the ship was bound Through night continued calm The stars were bright The moon was brilliant

Into one of the last lifeboats that were launched two Chinamen employed in the galley had hidden themselves They were stretched in the bottom of the boat face downward and made no sound So excited were the women that they did not notice the presence of the Chinese until the boat had pulled off from the Titanic The Chinamen were found The officer in charge drew his revolver and in the presence of the already horror stricken women shot both dead The bodies were tumbled overboard

The weather was very cold and the sea was filled with floating ice All were warned before getting into the boats to dress as warmly as possible By the time the boats were filled the water had entered the engine rooms and the ship was drifting helplessly with no way on her

About 2 o'clock Captain Smith who had been standing upon the bridge with a megaphone to his mouth again went to the wireless cabin

Men he said Phillips and Bride in a broken voice you have done your full duty You can do no more Abandon your cabin for it is now every man for himself

Bride left the cabin but Phillips still clung to his key He perished The saving of Bride the second wireless man was only one of a series of thrilling escapes Wearing a life belt Bride went on deck He saw a dozen men tugging at a collapsible boat trying to work it to the edge of the deck

How Bride Is Saved

The wireless man went to their assistance and they had gotten it nearly to the point from which they could swing it overboard when a wave rolled over the deck Bride who had hold of an oar lock was swept overboard with the boat The next thing he knew he was struggling in the water beneath the boat The icy water struck a chill through him and he realized that unless he got from beneath the boat he would drown Diving deeply he came up on the outside of the gunwale and grasped it On every hand was wreckage of all kinds and struggling men who had been washed overboard by the submerging combers

Pride clung to the boat until he saw another boat nearby Exerting all his strength he swam to this boat and was pulled into it more dead than alive

By this time all the boats and life rafts had been taken from the ship The boats were ranged about the ship from 150 to 1 000 yards distant Their occupants could see the lights burning upon the vessel which had settled low within the water

Suddenly as they looked great billows of live sparks rose up through the gigantic funnels Those were followed by billowing clouds of smoke and steam The rush of water had reached the boiler rooms and the boilers had exploded After this the great vessel sank more rapidly and within less than twenty minutes had plunged the grave two miles beneath the surface

Last Look on Life

In the meantime however those up on the sinking ship who knew that they had but a few hours at most to live lived up to the most splendid examples of Anglo Saxon courage As the bigger and lower boats were launched and climbed higher prolonging life to the last minute Frenzied search was made of every part of the deck by those who hoped that the sailors had overlooked a small boat which might be saved Then search was vain

The ship went down head first Her stern plunged high into the air The great propeller and rudder were exposed to view for a brief instant in the boats

Colonel Astor Major Butt C M Hays W M Clark and other friends stood together Astor and Butt were strong swimmers When the water reached the ships rail Butt and Astor jumped and began swimming rapidly away There was little suction despite the bulk of the plunging ship

There was a dreadful cry as the ship disappeared from view Instantly the water was filled with hundreds of struggling men The floating mass above the grave of the liner was covered with wreckage of every description Some of the men clung to pieces of debris others tried to climb upon the ice cakes But the cold air and the cold water benumbed the fingers of the men in the water Even the most powerful of the refugees soon gave out Exhausted in their efforts and numb from exposure they dropped one by one

There were survivors however among them D Henry Frauen hat of New York City who said they heard all from the water for two hours after the Titanic sank Amidst the floating acres of debris hundreds of dead bodies floated Many of them among the first cabin passengers were still dressed in the evening clothes which they had worn when the ship struck the berg

The Carpathia came up at dawn She did not find the little fleet of lifeboats gathered together for those which had put off first had rowed some miles away from the last boats which went over the Titanics side The first group discovered by the Carpathia which was steaming slowly about to overlook any survivor the water contained seven life boats Next a group of five boats were sighted The other boats were found singly

GIVES UP LIFE TO SAVE OTHERS

Archie Butt One of God's Greatest Noblemen.

INSPIRING AND A SOLDIER TO END

An Example of Bravery Seldom Equaled.

With "Will You Kindly Remember Me to Folks Back Home?" Archie Butt Smiles Good-By and Good Luck to Those He Saves and Then Goes Down to Death Without a Tremor or Fear.

Washington, April 20.—A graphic story of the heroism of Major Archibald W Butt on the Titanic was told Friday in an interview given to the Washington Star's staff correspondent in New York by Miss Marie Young, a former resident of this city

Miss Young is believed to have been the last woman to leave the Titanic and the last of the survivors to have talked with the president's military aide She and Major Butt had long been friends, Miss Young having been a special music instructor to the children of former President Roosevelt. Miss Young said:

The last person to whom I spoke on board the Titanic was Archie Butt and his good, brave face, smiling at me from the deck of the steamer, was the last I could distinguish as the boat I was in pulled away from the steamer's side.

Puts Her into Boat.

Archie himself put me into the boat, wrapped blankets around me and tucked me in as carefully as if we were starting on a motor ride. He himself entered the boat with me, performing the little courtesies as calmly and with as smiling a face as if death was far away instead of being but a few moments removed from him.

When he had carefully wrapped me up he stepped upon the gunwale of the boat, and, lifting his hat, smiled down at me.

'Good-by, Miss Young' he said, bravely and smilingly. 'Luck is with you Will you kindly remember me to all the folks back home?'

Then he stepped to the deck of the steamer and the boat I was in was lowered to the water. It was the last boat to leave the ship; of this I am perfectly certain, and I know that I am the last of those who were saved to whom Archie Butt spoke

As our boat first lowered and left the side of the steamer, Archie was still standing at the rail, looking down at me His hat was raised and the same old genial, brave smile was on his face The picture he made as he stood there, hat in hand, brave and smiling, is one that will always linger in my memory."

Mrs. Harris Praises Butt.

Mrs Henry B. Harris, of Washington, in an interview in the Washington Star yesterday, also described the heroism of Major Butt. She said:

"Archie Butt was a major to the last. God never made a finer nobleman than he The sight of that man, calm, gentle and yet as firm as a rock, will never leave me. The American army is honored by him and the way he showed some of the other men how to behave when women and children were suffering that awful mental fear that came when we had to be huddled into those boats. Major Butt was near me and I know everything he did

'When the order came to take to the boats, he became as one in supreme command You would have thought he was at a White House reception, so cool and calm was he. When the time came he was a man to be feared In one of the earlier boats fifty women, it seemed, were about to be lowered, when a man, suddenly panic-stricken, ran to the davits of it Major Butt shot one almost caught him by the neck and pitched him backward like a pillow. His head cracked against a rail and he was stunned

Women Came First.

Sorry,' said Major Butt, 'women will be attended to first or I'll break every damned bone in your body.'

The boats were lowered away one by one, and as I stood by my husband he said to me, 'Thank God for Archie Butt' Perhaps Major Butt heard it, for he turned his face toward us for a second Just at that time a young man was arguing to get into a lifeboat and Butt had hold of him by the arm, like a big brother and appeared to be telling him to keep his head.

How inspiring he was I stayed on almost the last and know what a man Archie Butt was They put me in a collapsible boat I was one of three women from the first cabin and the rest were steerage people Major Butt helped those poor frightened steerage people so wonderfully tenderly and yet with such cool and manly firmness. He was a soldier to the last He was one of God's greatest noblemen, and I can say he was an example to us all even to the officers of the ship. He gave up his life to save others."

Masons To Honor Hero.

President Taft Friday accepted an invitation to attend memorial services to be held by Temple Lodge, Free and Accepted Order of Masons, of which Major Butt was a member, to be held in this city, May 5. The president probably will make an address and those in charge of the meeting, which will be a memorial for Major Butt, hope to have Henry Watterson as another speaker.

The White House was informed yesterday that citizens of Augusta expect to hold memorial services in honor of Major Butt about the time of Mr. Taft's visit to Savannah, Georgia, May 1 and 2 The president promised today to stop in Augusta, if the schedule of his trip could be arranged to permit him to do so.

A permanent memorial to the heroism of Major Butt and the other Washingtonians who died on the Titanic was informally discussed Friday by some members of the cabinet and other government officials.

THE SUCCESSFUL DRY FARMING IN MONTANA

How It Is Done Where the Rainfall Is Light.

SYSTEM PROVES A BOON TO FARMERS

Probably in No Department of Agriculture Have Such Results Been Secured as Those Secured by Application of Improvements in Handling Semi-Arid Lands.

In states like Colorado and Montana, where the annual rainfall is light and uncertain in quantity from year to year, most interesting results have been attained by the application of dry farming methods. The rainfall at Denver, Colorado, has been as high as 23 inches in a year and as low as 8½ inches, the average for thirty-nine years being something over 14 inches. Under such conditions the moisture of a year of good rainfall must be stored up for use in a year of little rain. The dry farming system has done this successfully.

Probably in no department of agriculture have results been so astounding as those secured by the application of improvements and new methods in handling semi-arid lands. Dry farming is not all new, but many things connected with it are. It was first practiced in California fifty years ago. It was tried in Utah in 1854 and has there been practiced continuously and successfully ever since. It has been practiced in Oregon for twenty-five years, where in some parts of the state from ten to twenty bushels of wheat are raised per acre with an average rainfall of only ten inches. Eastern Washington has been turned from a grazing country into an immense wheat field by the knowledge of how to handle its table lands, and Colorado now has thousands of successful unirrigated farms. Montana has demonstrated the success of the method, and the possibilities of the future are beyond comprehension. Dry farming, in the opinion of men in touch with it, is destined to revolutionize western America.

At the present time about one-fourth of the total wheat crop of the United States is grown in the semi-arid west, where the annual precipitation is less than eighteen inches. It is a question of but a comparatively short time when the production of wheat west of the ninety-eighth meridian will exceed the amount grown east of it, and nine-tenths of the western wheat is and will continue to be raised without irrigation on the bench lands.

A bureau of dry land farming has been inaugurated by the United States department of agriculture, and the agricultural experts of every western state are devoting a great deal of attention to this important subject. Numerous bench land experimental farms are maintained by the national and state governments and every effort is made to disseminate the information among farmers. The bench land farmers have an organization with thousands of members called the dry farming congress, which holds annual conventions. These conventions are largely attended by experts and by farmers They are somewhat on the order of farm institutes on a large scale Successful dry farmers relate their experiences. Delegates come from all parts of the West.

The department of agriculture has aided the movement also by searching the world for varieties of plants that will thrive in arid climates and has been singularly successful. From the dry steppes of southern Russia and the Crimea, where the rainfall does not average ten inches annually, have been imported the winter and spring wheats now in common use in the West, together with other varieties of grain noted for their drought resisting qualities

The main points in dry farming are summer fallowing, thorough cultivation and the harrowing of the land after every big rain or snow, to form and preserve a dust blanket or mulch. When the top of the soil is kept pulverized it allows all moisture to be readily absorbed and it prevents baking and cracking, with the consequent loss of moisture by evaporation In fact correct methods of farming will positively hold the moisture in the ground from one season to another, saving for crop purpose about three-fourths of all the falls.

Summer fallowing in the West is not for the purpose of preserving fertility but to store moisture, and the rainfall of two years is used to produce one crop. For this reason one dry season does not cause a crop failure. It merely cuts down the yield. Each dry farm is as a rule divided into two fields, both of which are cultivated, but in the drier sections only one of them is seeded each year —New York Sun

CYCLONE STRIKES ALABAMA TOWN

Four Persons Are Reported Killed at Brookside.

Birmingham, Ala., April 22 — Word has reached here that Brookside, Alabama, thirty miles from here, has been visited by a disastrous cyclone. Several houses were blown down, but as all wires are down details are lacking.

Four persons lost their lives in the Brookside tornado, according to late authentic reports just received.

VESSEL IS RAMMED OFF CAPE HATTERAS

Norfolk, Va., April 22.— The Merchants and Miners' liner, Cretan, was rammed off Hatteras by the steamer, Iroquis, today The Cretan was seriously damaged, but none of the passengers or crew was injured in the crash.

The Cretan is an iron-built, schooner-rigged and screw propelled vessel of 1,651 tons She is 267 feet long and forty feet in the beam. She was built at Chester, Pennsylvania, in 1882 for the Merchants and Miners' Transportation company

The Cretan was bound from Jacksonville, Florida, to Baltimore and was in command of Captain J B Wood

HUMANE WORK OF THE PASSENGERS OF CARPATHIA TO SURVIVORS OF WHITE STAR LINER, TITANIC

300 DEAD IN DELTA SECTION

Loss to Stock in Mississippi Is $500,000.

WATER SPREADS OVER MILLIONS OF ACRES

Three Hundred Towns Are Inundated.

Thousands of Poor Whites and Negroes Left in Crude Cabin Homes, Are Starving—Supplies Are Cut Off and Many Persons Are Compelled To Slay Dogs To Supply Food To Prevent Starving.

Memphis, Tenn., April 22.—The death toll in the overflowed Mississippi delta section will reach 300, according to reports received today from rescue parties at Greenville, Rosedale and Natchez Most of the dead are negroes The loss to stock will amount to $500,000 and the flood area has spread over 50,000,000 acres

Three hundred town are inundated. Many homes will be abandoned. Late reports from the sinking of the steamer, Concordia, near Natchez, Mississippi say fifteen people were drowned and 300 head of stock, valued at $16,000, lost. The boat was doing rescue work in the fields of Louisiana opposite Natchez and struck a submerged snag. She sank in twenty feet of water

Thousands of poor whites and negroes left in their crude cabin homes, are starving Settlements fifty miles back from the Mississippi river are surrounded by water ten to fifteen feet deep. Supplies are cut off and rescue parties report that many were compelled to kill dogs to supply food to prevent starvation. Help is being rushed to these people by the government The Mississippi river at Rosedale, Mississippi, is over 100 miles wide

DENIES BUTT IS ON MISSION TO ROME

President Says Butt Is Merely Taking Needed Rest.

Washington, April 22.—President Taft, through Secretary Hilles, today denied that Major Archibald Butt had been sent by him on a mission to Rome Secretary Hilles in a letter to William J. Oliver, of Knoxville, Tennessee says:

"There is absolutely no truth in the report that Major Butt was on a mission to Rome The sole object of his trip was to get the benefit of the long sea voyage and the president gave him a number of informal notes on instruction to personages in Rome None of the letters contained more than a formal introduction."

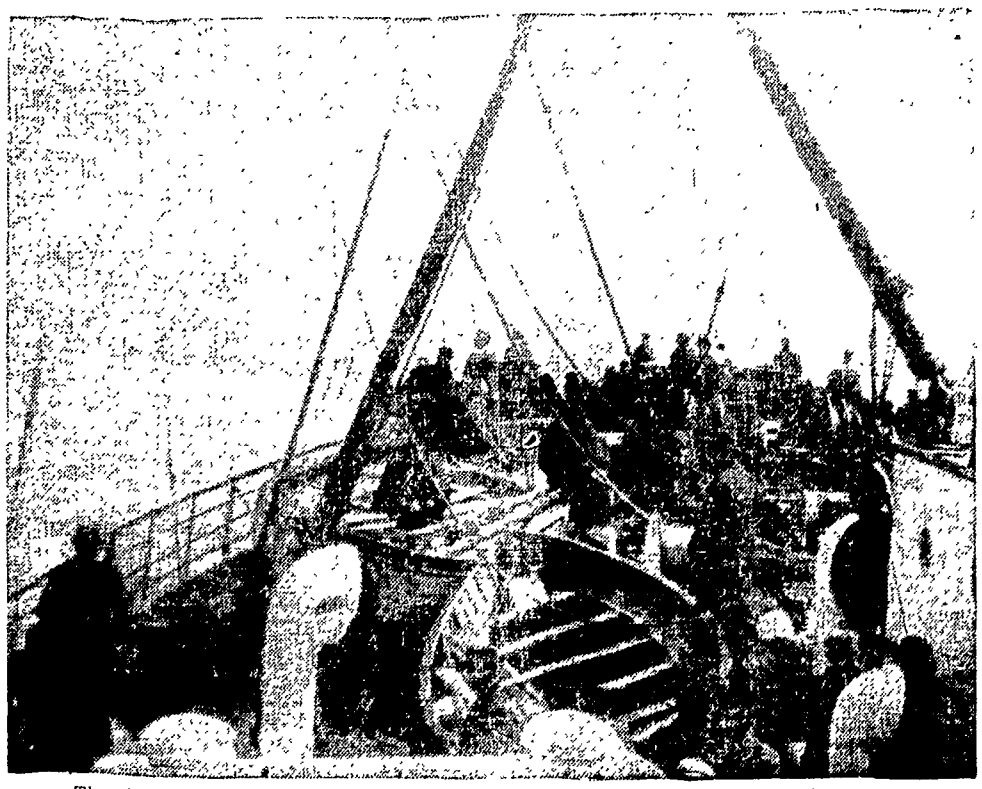
WHERE THE SURVIVORS OF THE TITANC THANKED PROVIDENCE FOR THE SAVING OF THEIR LIVES



The photograph shows the after deck of the Carpathia, the ship that rushed to the scene of the Titanic catastrophe The photograph was taken the morning after the rescue and shows a number of the Titanic lifeboats in which the survivors were drifting around in the ice-choked sea It was on this deck that the life-boats with their burdens of half-frozen and grief-stricken passengers were shipped, about eight hours after the Titanic dove to the bottom with over fifteen hundred passengers.—Copyrighted, 1912, by International News Service.

THE WIZARDRY OF HARRIMAN

Described Before the Supreme Court Today.

THE UNION PACIFIC MERGER CASE UP

Network of Transcontinental Lines Traced.

In Great Financial Battle, in Which Gould, Frick, Stillman and Others Figure, and in Which Millions of Dollars Are the Munitions of War, Only One Failure Is Reported. How Plan Works.

Washington, April 22.—The wizardry of the late E. H Harriman in conceiving and carrying out his gigantic plan to consolidate practically all of the great railway lines to the Pacific coast, together with steamship lines from New York to New Orleans and the isthmus of Panama, coastwise lines of the Pacific coast and to the Orient was described before the supreme court today in the hearing of the Union Pacific merger case. The story was told by E. C. Severance, special assistant to the attorney general, who traced on a huge map before the tribunal the network of transcontinental lines each of them thousands of miles in length which were brought under Harriman control Each step by which the Union Pacific acquired control of the Southern Pacific, the Oregon short line, Oregon Railroad and Navigation company, Salt Lake and other railroads and obtained a voice in the management of the Santa Fe railway system was retraced In this stupendous financial battle, in which the names of George Gould, W A Clark, R Stillman, Otto Kohn, H. C Frick figure, and in which the munitions of war were millions of dollars, there was only one failure, brought about by the supreme court decision dissolving the Northern Securities company.

Merely An Incident.

This transaction alone was a huge one, but was merely an incident in the great plan by which the government alleges Harriman tried to bring about a combination of railroads to control transcontinental traffic and eliminate competition in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Attorney General Dickersham will appear for the government to argue the legal points in the case and astute lawyers will defend the Union Pacific and try to show that these negotiations, most of which were made in 1901, were not undertaken to eliminate competition

In the amount of property involved the undertaking ranks with the organization of the Standard Oil company which was ordered dissolved. The government asks that the combination be enjoined and the Union Pacific be prevented from voting the stock it controls in other roads

JAPANESE LINER REPORTED ASHORE

Mails and Passengers Are Taken Off by German Boat.

Shanghai, April 22.—The Japanese liner, Saiko Maru, bound from London for this port, went ashore on the coast in a heavy fog during the night. The mails and passengers were taken off by a German steamer, but the crew remained on board.

Personalities? Mercy, No!

In a campaign which Colonel Roosevelt declared was to be "devoid of personalities," his manager calls President Taft a "fence" and says he "can not escape the charge of being willing to profit by theft and of being the deliberate receiver of stolen goods."

Colonel Roosevelt himself says, "All the bread-and-butter politicians are for Taft," in the face of facts that the strongest arguments offered for his own candidacy come from these same bread-and-butter politicians who shout "Roosevelt and victory, Taft and defeat." Not Roosevelt and right, Taft and wrong; not Roosevelt and the square deal, Taft and the crooked deal In his almost hysterical appeal to the King's county delegation to support Roosevelt, Comptroller Prendergast could think of no argument so powerful a President Taft's "certain defeat in case of his nomination."

A campaign which was to be "devoid of personalities" has gone to the depths of degradation in personal abuse and what should be libelous Under Bar Colonel Roosevelt was never a good loser When he is not winning he is vicious When he is victorious his joy finds expression in a characteristic phraseology so becoming to one who aspires to the highest office in the land "We slugged 'em over the ropes."

The sentiment is what might be expected from a gamester who threw his hat into the ring To his mind the fight is a prize fight He is a "slugger" And if all the "rounds" were like that in Illinois it would be "corking, by George" — Toledo Times.

He is a brave man who will face the parson with a short haired woman.

FULL SPEED SIGNAL GIVEN

When the Titanic Leaves Queenstown.

SHIP'S FIREMAN TELLS HIS TALE

Ismay One of First To Save Himself.

Fireman Gives Some Facts That Are Astonishing, in View of the Story Told by Mr. Ismay—Says White Star Line People Try To Have Him Sign Certain Papers, but He Refuses To Do So.

New York, April 22.—"When the Titanic left port, we got the signal 'full speed ahead.' That was marked in the engine room and there was no other entry. When we crashed into the iceberg we were making full speed."

"J. Bruce Ismay did not leave in any of the last four lifeboats which were launched when the liner began to settle."

These two statements are the chief points in a story of the Titanic disaster told today by William McIntyre, one of the Titanic's firemen who is in St. Vincent's hospital suffering from frozen feet and exposure.

McIntyre's story of what was going on below decks when the queen of the seas met her doom, is, in many ways, the most remarkable account of the disaster that has yet been given. When the crash came, he declared, there was 220 pounds in the boilers There is ten pounds above what is known as "blood pressure," which is supposed to be the extreme limit.

"I had just reached the engine room," said McIntyre, "when we ran into the iceberg. I looked at the guages and remarked to one of the other men 'Keeping up the old speed, are you?' 'Yes, we are,' he said, 'and we are trying to put on more.'

Won't Sign Papers.

"From the time we left Queenstown we went the limit. It was hard work down there firing, and I went to the engine room at twenty minutes to 12 to relieve my man a little earlier so he could get some extra sleep Just as I reached the engine room there was a terrific crash. I rushed on deck.

"I saw some rich man and his family get into the first boat. One of the crew, seeing him fight his way ahead of the women, remarked: 'That fellow's got a lot of nerve all right.' The boat was launched with only thirteen people in it. It would have held seventy."

Since he has been in the hospital McIntyre said, persons claiming to represent the White Star line have tried to induce him to sign some papers.

"I was told they were receipts for the wages due me. They brought four of five sheets of legal-looking paper and asked me to sign my name. But I'm not signing any paper just now."

Astor Is Hurrying Home To Change Will When Lost.

New York, April 22.—Colonel John Jacob Astor, when he took passage on the Titanic, it was learned today, was hurrying here on the advice of attorneys in Lodon, to make provision in his will for an expected heir to the Astor fortune. It is said that Colonel Astor consulted attorneys in London regarding his will It was found that there would be a legal tangle on the birth of the child, in the event that anything should happen to Colonel Astor if his will was not changed It was the suggestion of the attorneys that Colonel Astor come here at once. Because of this advice, Colonel Astor and his bride cut short their sojourn abroad, and took passage on the Titanic

The Astor fortune is estimated at $150,000,000 of which approximately $80,000,000 is in real estate and railroad bonds Vincent Astor stated today that he will return to Harvard to continue his course there. First however he will make every effort to recover his father's body.

Mrs Madeline Force Astor was said to be resting comfortably today As soon as her condition warrants she will be removed to the Astor country home at Rhinecliff where it is probable the Astor heir will be born.

Hangs Himself.

Chester Clifford Comstock, nineteen years of age, committed suicide by hanging himself from a rafter in the mow of his father's barn, two and a half miles southwest of Nevada, Thursday morning, about 6 o'clock Young Comstock, who was a son of Roy Comstock, arose early Thursday morning and was assisting his father in doing some chores After his mother and sister had called him to breakfast, to no avail an investigation was made with the result that the body was found suspended in the barn Neighbors, who were hurriedly summoned took the body down. Comstock was the eldest of seven children.

Isn't it surprising how little you know?

MIGHTY SEA IS GIVING UP DEAD

Funeral Fleet Recovers Many Bodies More.

POSSIBLY THOSE OF ASTOR AND BUTT

Total of Seventy-Seven Bodies Is Recovered.

White Star Line Officers Get a Despatch from Searchers, Saying a Number of Titanic's Victims Are Identified—Many Bodies Are Badly Mangled and Are Reconsigned to Atlantic's Waters.

New York, April 23.—Fifteen bodies more of Titanic victims have been recovered by the cable ship, Mackay-Bennett, searching near the scene of the disaster, according to a wireless received at the White Star offices today. Among the identifications is that of William D Douglas, a prominent resident of Minneapolis, who saved his wife and then perished.

Today's latest dispatch states that the total number of bodies recovered is seventy-seven Of this number forty-one have been identified.

The dispatch received here today follows:

"Ismay, White Star Line, New York. The following were identified today. Mrs Mack, Mrs. McNamee, Catavelas Vassilios, W. Vear, Mary Managan, William Sage, James Farrell, Henry D. Hansen, James Kelly, Mauretz, Reg. Hale, William D Douglas. The body of Mr. Douglas has been embalmed. Have also identified J. R. Rice, assistant purser; G Hinckley, hospital attendant, and William Butt, of crew."

The "Reg. Hale" mentioned is believed to be the body of Reginald Hale, who was booked as a second cabin passenger.

List of Recovered Dead.

New York, April 23.—The first list of names of bodies recovered from the Titanic disaster by the cable steamer, Mackay-Bennett, was received here last night through wireless messages, as follows:

L. M. Hoffman, Mrs. Alexander Robbins, William H Harbeck, Malcolm Johnson, A. J. Halverson, H. W. Ashe, Leslie Williams, A H. Hayter, Jerry Monroe, Frederick Sutton, J. S. Gill, Ernest B. Tomlin, George Rosenshire, N. Marriott, John H Chapman, W. Colbine, H. Grenberg, Simon Sother, N Colas Rasher, —— Shea, George W. Widen, Ramon Artagaveytia, Nihil Schedig, Steward No. 76, Yosite Drazenoui, R. B. Att, Leslie Gilinski.

The wireless message, after listing the names, concluded "All preserved," probably referring to the condition of the bodies.

A number of the twenty-seven names in the list do not check up with the Titanic's passenger list, which leads to the belief that a number of the bodies are members of the Titanic's crew.

The White Star officials studied without success in interpreting the meaning of some of the spellings, and came to the conclusion that many of them were badly garbled because of the fact that the list had been relayed It came via the steamer, Laconia, to the Cape Race wireless station and was sent by cable to New York.

Telegraph operators acquainted with both the Morse and continental code speculated as to whether the names of Major Archibald Butt and Colonel John Jacob Astor were intended in two instances, but they could come to no decision that appeared trustworthy in such a case.

In the list as it came the following combination appeared:

"Nihil Schedig R. B. Att," which operators believe to have been intended for Major Archibald Butt's name.

Similar speculation developed over the name, "N Colas Rasher," a name which the White Star line could not account for and which telegraph operators thought might be Colonel Astor's.

Fleet Keeps Up Search.

Halifax, N. S., April 23.—A funeral fleet, of which the cable ship, Mackay-Bennett is the flagship, is assembling off the Newfoundland coast to keep up the search for the bodies of victims of the Titanic disaster. The Western Union cable ship, Minia, today is steaming to the Grand Banks to join the Mackay-Bennett

The Minia carried 150 coffins and the only passenger was Rev. H. M Cunningham, rector of St George's church, who will pronounce the burial ritual over the remains of those who are too disfigured for identification. The bodies which are beyond recognition will be encased in canvas shrouds, weighted with iron bars and reconsigned to the sea Several such were given sea burial last night.

The ships which are searching for dead bodies are continuing their hunt farther and farther eastward as the remains are being borne in that direction by the current of the gulf stream

Fragmentary and incomplete wireless reports, which are relayed here from time to time, strengthen the belief that the bodies of Colonel John Jacob Astor Major Archibald Butt and George D Widener and J. B Thayer have been recovered and are on the Mackay-Bennett Confusion in wireless messages has resulted in many names not on the Titanic being flashed from the Mackay Bennett.

ROOSEVELT INSULTS PEOPLE OF KANSAS

Declares Congressman Campbell, Replying to Colonel's Attack.

Washington, April 23.—The White House Monday heard an excoriation of Theodore Roosevelt by Representative Philip Campbell, of Kansas, who replied to attacks on him by Roosevelt

"I have been told," Campbell said, "that I was taking my political life in my hands by attacking Colonel Roosevelt. If I did not do so I would despise myself and my friends, and my foes also would despise me

"I resent the insult to the people of Kansas Theodore Roosevelt gave last Friday in his attack on me. The insult is to their intelligence in assuming that they do not know the difference between a judicial decision and a political campaign."

Mr. Campbell then declared the necessity of finality of decisions resting in the courts, and said of Colonel Roosevelt:

Ambition and search for power by the greatest politician since Julius Caesar are the characteristics of this man. He has all the attributes of a politician possessed by Julius Caesar, Cromwell and Napoleon without the statemanship of any of them. He is planning for imperial power He would get the confidence of the people and then act the tyrant."

FIVE CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH

A Mother Leaps from Burning Home.

A MAN ALSO IS VICTIM OF FLAMES

One Fire Is Caused by a Lamp Explosion.

Two Children Are Dead by Fire in New York and Three Are Claimed by Flames in Canadian Town. Waterbury, Connecticut, Has Thirteen Incendiary Fires Last Night, Causing Hours of Terror.

Shelbrooke, Sask., April 23.—John Tuhiban and three children of Mrs. Adamson were burned to death in a fire here early today. Mrs. Adamson with her youngest child leaped through a window and escaped She was severely burned, but will recover.

Find Two Burned.

Ogdensburg, N. Y, April 23.—Returning home early today, Mr. and Mrs Fred Rivard, of Sellwood, found two of their six children burned to death from a lamp explosion The others had escaped The victims were girls aged two and four respectively.

Thirteen Incendiary Fires.

Waterbury, Conn, April 23.—Following a night of terror caused by thirteen incendiary fires in the center of the city, which necessitated calling out the militia, quiet was restored today, although the troops still patrolled the streets The most damaging fire was that which destroyed the recently-remodeled city hall with a loss estimated at from $175,000 to $200,000 All the municipal offices were wiped out, leaving municipal affairs in a chaotic condition A special meeting of the board of aldermen was convened before noon to take action on the extraordinary situation

Two suspects, "Jack" Lane and John Longworth, were arrested, although the police admit that they have no conclusive evidence against the men A rigid investigation in which state, county and municipal authorities are cooperating is under way.

MAN OF FORTY-FIVE IS IN HIS PRIME

According to View of President of Big Railroad Company.

Chicago, April 23.—That a man is past his usefulness at the age of forty-five, is considered "bosh" by President H U Mudge, of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway, who has himself lived ten years longer than that mark

"A man of forty-five is in his prime," said Mr Mudge "It is true that there is a sort of unwritten railroad rule against taking a man on after he reaches forty-five But that is because we want to train a man somewhat before he reaches his prime, and then have him when he is at his greatest usefulness Look at me I am fifty-five I never felt more like work in my life"

Tail End of Storm.

The heavy rain and wind storm, which prevailed in this section, between 12 and 1 o'clock, Monday, was the tail end of the great storm which claimed a toll of thirty-two lives in Illinois and Indiana, as mentioned in the Star's telegraph columns.

UNKNOWN SHIP PASSES WRECK

Ignores Titanic's Appeals for Assistance.

"COME AT ONCE, WE ARE SINKING"

That Is the Cry Sent Out Over Waters by Titanic.

Fourth Officer of Ill-Fated Ship Appears Before Senate Committee and Tells of Mysterious Actions of Steamer Whose Lights Are Plainly Visible from Bridge of Liner When Crash Comes.

Washington, April 23.—That a vessel was within sight of the Titanic when it came into fatal collision with the iceberg, was the feature of the senate committee's hearing into the cause of the disaster This unidentified vessel was headed toward the Titanic. So close was she that her lights were easily discernible from the Titanic's bridge. Yet this mysterious ship failed to respond to the burning rockets that were sent up for more than an hour as signals of distress, or to the urgent electric flashes which, in the Morse code, spelled the words "come at once, we are sinking."

In the opinion of some of the Titanic's officers who stood on the bridge on that fatal night of April 14, this vessel, within sight of the Titanic, acknowledged the signals but sailed away unheeding. This startling information was imparted to the committee by J. G. Boxhall, former fourth officer of the Titanic, who also gave impressive details of what occurred on the bridge of the Titanic just preceding and following the collision with the iceberg According to this officer, Captain Smith himself was on the bridge when the big liner plunged into the great mass of ice, but conditions were so that it was impossible to see the berg even after the ship had come into contact with it.

Account Is Impressive.

Besides Officer Boxhall's dramatic story, the senate committee heard an impressive account through Vice President Franklin of the White Star line, of the uncertainty and fears that attended the efforts of the officials of the White Star line to ascertain just what had happened to the great Titanic All the messages that flashed from the White Star line officers in those hours of uncertainty were introduced in evidence, and also the wireless dispatches that came back bearing only the most meager news of the tragedy. The messages introduced in evidence for the White Star people tended strongly to support their contention that they had no definite knowledge that the Titanic had gone to the bottom until 6 30 Monday night There was also included in the record all the messages which passed between P. A S Franklin vice president of the International Mercantile Marine company, and J. Bruce Ismay, managing director, in regard to the latter's plan for holding up the Cedric and sailing at once on her with the surviving officers and sailors of the Titanic.

CROSSES THE IRISH CHANNEL IN MACHINE

Aviator Wilson Makes Most Daring Flight in Ireland Today.

Dublin, Ireland, April 23.—A more daring flight than those over the English channel was made Monday when Aviator Corbet Wilson flew from Fishguard, Wales, over the Irish channel to Enniscorthy, Ireland, in a driving rainstorm The width of the channel at that point is a little over sixty miles Wilson was forced to land at Enniscorthy, county of Wexford, shortly after noon because of motor trouble, and in descending ran his machine into a hedge, smashing the propeller. The aviator left Hendon, a suburb of London, last week to fly to this city. He arrived at Fishguard, Sunday, after spending two days in the Welsh mountains where he descended because of motor difficulties His absence gave rise to reports that he had dropped into the Irish sea as his whereabouts were unknown

SUES FOR $50,000, SETTLES FOR $1,500

Last Claim Against "Lucky" Baldwin Estate Is Paid.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 23.—Mrs Zelda Sanders Aedo, a New York actress, who sued the "Lucky" Baldwin estate for $50,000 compromised today for $1,500 Executor H A Unruh announced that this was the last claim to be disposed of, and the millions are now near distribution

Attracted by the pretty face and manner of Zelda Sanders when she was only twelve years old, Baldwin made a voluntary promise to educate her and to give her $50,000 when she reached the age of twenty-one After her twenty-first birthday, she besought the turfman to abide by his promise, but Baldwin, it is asserted, said he would receive the money by bequest

Fewer people would jump at conclusions if they could see their finish.

500 DROWNED IN THE SOUTH

Hundreds of Towns and Hamlets Inundated.

THESE ARE ESTIMATES MADE BY ENGINEERS

Worst Is Not Yet Over, Says the Reports.

Should Added Weight of Increasing Flood Waters Break Other Levees in Mississippi Below Mouth of Red River, Great Plantations Will Be Inundated and the Loss Will Be Enormous.

Memphis, Tenn., April 23.—Five hundred persons have been drowned and 300 towns and hamlets have been inundated and partially destroyed by the floods now sweeping the Mississippi valley. These are the estimates made today from reports received at the offices of the United States army engineers here who are in charge of the levees along the banks of the Mississippi river. The heaviest loss of life occurred in the Mississippi delta district. Here hundreds of persons refused to leave their homes when warned of the impending danger of floods. Many of them could not escape when the levees gave way and the water, ten to fifteen feet deep swept over the delta country. A large per cent. of those drowned were negroes. The loss of life throughout the Mississippi and Louisianna flood districts has been heavy. Many whites are among those who perished.

According to the government engineers' report, fully 300 towns in Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana have been practically wiped out by the waters. These towns range from villages of several hundred inhabitants to plantation settlements and trading settlements where one or two stores and a small colony of whites and negroes were centered for the convenience of plantation owners,

Loss Substantiated.

The report of the loss of towns is substantiated by private reports coming from people thoroughly familiar with conditions in the flooded sections.

The flood today is still spreading and danger of more breaks in the levees, sending the water over vast sections of plantations are feared.

A force of 7,000 men today battled with the high water near the mouth of the Red river, forty miles below Nachez, where breaks in the dikes are threatened in a dozen places. Water from the flooded sections of Arkansas and Louisiana are finding their way back into the Mississippi channel near the mouth of the Red river. Should the added weight of this flood water break through the levees below the Red river's mouth, the entire sugar plantation section of Louisiana would be inundated

Heavy Loss of Life.

It is estimated that the loss would reach millions and practically the entire sugar cane crop of the year would be destroyed.

That there has been heavy loss of life in Louisiana is a report received here today. Gasoline launches have been sent out over the inundated country seaching for refugees. These boats are traversing East Carroll, West Carroll, Tensas, Catahula, Richland and Concordia parishes.

Conditions in Arkansas, opposite Memphis, are greatly improved. The water is receding and the remaining levees are holding. Fully 2,000 refugees are quartered at the fair grounds here and are being cared for by the Memphis flood committee Many of these will return to their former homes in two or three weeks more.

Major F H Lawton has established headquarters at Vicksburg and provisions and supplies for the refugees in that section will be handled there.

TRAINMEN KILLED IN AN EXPLOSION

Boiler on Western Pacific Railroad Engine Lets Go.

Elko, Nev., April 23.—Three trainmen were killed and several others were injured today when the boiler of a locomotive on the Western Pacific railroad exploded on the top of Antelope hill, thirty-six miles west of Winnemucca.

SHIP THAT IGNORES THE TITANIC'S CALL

Washington, April 23.—According to information received today by Chairman Smith of the Titanic investigating committee, the steamship which was supposed to have been within five miles of the Titanic when she sank, is the Swedish vessel, Heligof This boat is reported to have docked in New York today

BEGINNING OF BRYAN BOOM

Seen in Publication of Letter in Chicago.

"IF MR. ROOSEVELT, WHY NOT BRYAN?"

That Is Question To Be Put to Democrats.

Colonel Roosevelt, in New York, Declares "We've Got Them Lashed to the Mast," While President in Washington Prepares To Remove the Veil of Secrecy Regarding the Split in Friendship.

Chicago, April 23.—What is believed in local Democratic circles to be the beginning of a possible presidential boom for William J. Bryan will come with the publication tomorrow of a letter headed "If Roosevelt, Why Not Bryan?"

The letter, written by Edgar Lee Masters, an attorney, will be printed in the Democratic Bulletin, a local political organ. Masters is one of the closest personal friends Bryan has in Chicago. The most significant paragraph in the letter says:

"There is no question that Mr. Bryan will accept the nomination if the Democrats desire him to do so."

Masters was in conference with Bryan at the University club when the Nebraskan was in Chicago on his last visit here.

Lashed to the Mast.

New York, April 23.—"We've got them lashed to the mast," declared Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, today, upon his arrival from his western and southern swing. The colonel arrived in the private car, "Pilgrim," on the Pennsylvania road, coming direct from Asheville, North Carolina.

"It was a fine trip, we have got them lashed to the mast," repeated the ex-president, as he swung off the train in the Pennsylvania station.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Lawrence Abbott and several others met the colonel They gave him a huge bundle of mail, which he began to peruse seated on a bench. The news spread that Colonel Roosevelt was in the station and soon a crowd of 500 persons collected. Then the colonel fled.

To Attack Roosevelt.

Washington, April 23.—President Taft today abandoned the cabinet meeting and denied himself to visitors while he worked on his Massachusetts speeches. It was reiterated today that these speeches, especially the one in Boston, will be a personal attack on Colonel Roosevelt and will remove the veil of secrecy from the disagreement which converted the former friendship of the two into bitter political enemies

It was stated at the White House that the president will probably call a special meeting of the cabinet tomorrow to consider the charges to be made against Roosevelt It was also declared that Mr Taft will make some accusations against the ex-president relative to the latter's campaign funds, especially the contributions of the Harvester trust and George W. Perkins.

Leaders Are Active.

St. Louis, April 23.—Preliminary to the struggle to control the Republican state convention, Thursday, Roosevelt and Taft leaders today held numerous caucuses with their lieutenants and with the delegates who have already come to the city. Governor Hadley is the head of the Roosevelt forces, while Congressman Bartholdt and Secretary Charles Nagel are here in the interests of Taft. The state committee tomorrow will endeavor to adjust the contests. Each faction claims a majority and each side contests delegates offered by the other. It is possible that two state conventions may be held.

In West Virginia.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 23.—A battle to decide whether West Virginia will go solid for Colonel Roosevelt or whether the delegation to the national convention shall be split is being waged in the Ohio county primaries today. This county is the most important in the state and leaders conceded that if Roosevelt won here he would have the state solidly behind him, as he has already carried twenty-eight of the state's fifty-five counties. Ohio county is always considered a pivotal election community in the state.

Officer Finds Child.

Wanda Keeran, aged four years, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W Keeran, residing at No. 736 east Farming street, was found at the Hotel Nordica at the noon hour Monday by Officer Thompson. The child wandered away from her home and traveled to the West End, a distance from her home to the place where she was found being over a mile and a half. The parents of the child were much alarmed over her disappearance and the police were notified to assist in the search The child was unable to tell her name When found, her father was waiting for her at police headquarters.

FAIRBANKS DECLINES.

Indianapolis, April 23.—Former Vice President Fairbanks who was selected as a Taft delegate-at-large at the state convention, has informed a number of his friends that he will not go as a delegate. The reason that he assigns is that he served as vice president with Roosevelt and it might be construed as a discourtesy if he should now go to the national convention as a delegate against him.

MRS. HENRY STRINE DIES THIS MORNING

Death Comes to Well-Known Resident of Waldo.

Waldo, O., April 23.—[Special]—Mrs Henry Strine, one of the best-known residents of this vicinity, died at her home about two miles east of Waldo at 1:30 o'clock this morning. Death was due to cancer of the breast, for which Mrs Strine was operated on about two years ago. She had been confined to her bed for the past ten weeks. Had she lived until next month, she would have been fifty-four years of age.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Sarah Anna Selanders, was married to Henry Strine, May 5, 1870 She was a native of Waldo township and had resided here during her entire life. As the result of the marriage, five children were born, four of whom, with the husband, survive. They are Mrs Milton Augenstine, Harry and Melvin Strine, residing in and near Waldo, and Jacob Strine, of Mt. Victory. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Mary Coleman and Mrs Jacob Coleman, of Waldo, and two brothers, Valentine Selanders, of Waldo, and Samuel Selanders, of Van Wert.

The funeral will be held, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, at St. Paul's Lutheran church, of which the deceased was a member. Rev. L. H. Hurrelbrink, of Prospect, will officiate and interment will follow in Waldo cemetery.

ANDERSON NOW HAS NO OPPOSITION IN RACE

Senator T. A. Dean Will Not Be a Candidate.

Senator T. A. Dean, of Fremont, in an interview in reference to his reported candidacy for congress in the Thirteenth district, stated that he will not enter the contest this year, and that at the time he should have been busy circulating petitions and effecting an organization, he was unable to get out into the district on account of sickness in his family, and adjusting fire losses sustained to his dwelling, which was almost completely destroyed early in March.

The senator further stated that his hat was in the ring for two years hence. He says he learns, through Congressman Anderson's friends, that he will not be a candidate again, and that it is hardly probable that Mr. Anderson would ask for a fourth term, even if urged to do so.

THEATRICAL PEOPLE JOINED IN MARRIAGE

Miss Cecelia C. Collins and Mr. James W. Robinson.

Miss Cecelia Catherine Collins and Mr James W. Robinson, members of the Tom Morris players' company, at the Sun theater this week, were married by Justice Charles E. Gompf, in the latter's office, Monday morning at 11 o'clock. They were attended by half a dozen other members of the same company.

The bride is eighteen years of age and is a member of the chorus The groom is twenty-two years old and plays a character role. Both were school-day sweethearts, whose homes are in Pittsburgh. Sunday, they decided to get married and informed the members of the company of their intention. In order to procure the license in this city, the bride gave her place of residence as Marion.

OFFICERS SEARCHING FOR LORING J. SMITH

Is Under Sentence to Three Years in Penitentiary.

Contrary to persistent rumors that the bondsmen had been satisfied, Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice, Friday, declared that the rumors were ridiculously false and that every effort was being made to apprehend Loring J. Smith, former secretary and general manager of the Ohio Milling & Elevator company, under penitentiary sentence of three years for embezzlement.

Attorney Ireton and Dr. N. F. Tilton, Smith's bondsmen, have detectives searching for Smith, who will be promptly arrested just as soon as he is located.

"I do not want to forfeit the bonds and Mr. Ireton and Dr. Tilton have been given every opportunity to produce Smith in court," said Prosecutor Justice.

Smith, who is enjoying his liberty under bond, after having fought a conviction to the supreme court, was last heard of in Indiana.

INFANT IS DROWNED IN A WASHBOILER

Little Son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hower Victim.

CHILD DROWNS WHILE MOTHER IS ABSENT

Only Three Inches of Water in the Vessel in Which the Little One Loses Its Life—A Physician Called Quickly, but Babe Passes Away in Short Time.

With tiny feet sticking over the rim of the washboiler, Mrs. Edward Hower, of Lima avenue, found her one-year-old son, Harold, in a drowning condition, shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday. She snatched the babe from the boiler, containing only two or three inches of cold water, and worked in a wild effort to restore the little one. Neighbors called a physician, but the tot died shortly after he arrived.

Mrs. Hower was getting ready to do a washing and had placed the boiler on the back porch, after pouring a bucket of water into it. She then went to the cistern around the house to get another bucket of water. While she was gone the wind blew open the door, the baby crawled out on the porch and drew itself up on the boiler and fell into the water.

The mother says she was gone only a few minutes. She believed the babe was in the house with the door shut and safe from all harm.

Mr. and Mrs. Hower came here about three years ago from Huntington, Indiana. They have another child a year or two older.

The little body was shipped to Huntington for interment, Sunday.

CLASS GRADUATED BY THE AGOSTA SCHOOLS

Pleasing Exercises Enjoyed by a Large Company.

ORATIONS DELIVERED BY THE GRADUATES

W. P. Moloney Delivers Address to Class and Rev. T. J. Carey Presents the Diplomas—Some Extracts from the Orations Which Are All Well Delivered.

Agosta, O., April 20.—[Special.]—The annual commencement held at the Star opera-house, Friday evening, was well attended and reflected much credit upon the public schools of Agosta. Never before in the history of the schools, have the people of this community manifested such an interest in education and all lent their influence to make it what it was, a great success.

Beautiful and elaborate were the decorations. Color themes in old rose and tan, the class colors, were conspicuous for their artistic design and beauty. A profusion of potted plants and cut flowers with the beautiful motto, "Through Thorns to Honor," and the stage furnishing enchanced the pleasure of the occasion.

Promptly at 8 o'clock, the class, followed by W. P. Moloney, and Rev. T. J. Carey, was escorted to the platform by Superintendent F. W. Stoll. A delightful musical number by the McNeal orchestra assisted by Miss Mary Dennison Gailey was received with great appreciation

After the invocation by Rev. Mr. Carey, Mrs. C. L. Allen, of Marion, sang "The Spring Has Come," Otis Leon Johnson then delivered the salutatory. It was well delivered. In part he said:

"The influence of our school days has left its impress upon our minds and hearts. It pervades the utmost recesses of our nature. It has become a guiding principle to form our character. A life of the highest endeavor is what we owe to our dear old school. Tonight we go from its sheltering walls into the tumult of a stern and competitive world where our mission is to be achieved. Let us, with indomitable courage, take up the line of advance and press with earnest purpose to noblest aims. This earnest devotion to a fixed and lofty purpose will develop an intenser vitality, a broader sympathy, a richer grace of moral achievement."

Looking To Future.

"More Beyond" was the subject of an oration, well delivered by Burt R. Moore. He said, "It is the thought of future conquests that stimulates us in overcoming the difficulties that confront us. Life would lose its fascination were there no more beyond. It was this thought of 'more beyond' that gave success to the continued search for new truths to Benjamin Franklin, and it is the same thought that stimulated Edison in his wonderful discoveries in electricity. If we succeed, this same thought must serve as a stimulus to help us stem the tide of folly and pleasure, and nerve and invigorate us for study and sacrifice to make our lives what we can, when we appreciate the capabilities of the latest forces within us."

The next number was a selection by McNeal's orchestra.

Mabel Ferne Miller delivered an oration on "Attention to Trifles Brings Perfection." In part, she said:

"One who has attained honor, wealth and influence will tell you

FOR THE KIDNEYS

A Guaranteed Treatment. Money Back if it Fails.

Kidney diseases are more prevalent than is generally supposed, and are not always recognized as such. What was at first but a slight derangement of the kidneys often results in indigestion, rheumatism, anaemia, chronic and very painful headache, neuralgia, eye weakness, and other diseases of a most aggravating type. Therefore it is highly important and absolutely necessary that the kidneys and the urinary system be kept in an active and healthy condition.

After a thorough experience with the most successful forms of kidney treatments, we are confident that the one remedy which embraces the most desirable, safe and efficacious curative qualities, so necessary to the successful treatment and positive eradication of kidney diseases in general, is Rexall Kidney Pills.

We are so positive that Rexall Kidney Pills are unexcelled, and that they will do all we claim, that we sell them with our own personal guarantee that they shall not cost the user a cent if they should fail to give entire satisfaction.

We particularly recommend Rexall Kidney Pills for kidney ailments that resist ordinary treatment. We believe, if taken according to directions with regularity and persistency for a reasonable length of time, they will positively remove all symptoms and effect permanent relief.

Surely we could not more strongly demonstrate our faith in Rexall Kidney Pills, and our generous guarantee should convince the most sceptical that we would not dare make such a statement except we know what we are talking about. We urge you to try Rexall Kidney Pills at our risk. Price 50c. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. L. M. Liggett & Co.

that the many little trifles with which he has been surrounded have contributed largely to his success in life. There is but one way to attain perfection, and that is by an honest, earnest and persistent effort on the part of him who desires it, to prosecute the thing set before him, "until he is master of it. Perfection can be nothing but the result of experience, prodigious research and attention to details. To be complete master of one's profession, it is necessary for one to aim at the very height of perfection in his line of work alone, and not foolishly to spend his time and energy in trying to perfect all other lines of work which presented themselves to him."

"Lincoln, the Immortal," was the next oration, and was given by Harry F. Tuttle.

Lincoln, the Lowly.

"Lincoln, born as low as the Son of God, in a hovel, of what real parentage we know not. Reared in penury and squalor, with no gleam of light to illuminate his gloomy situation. A young man of visionary temperament, singularly awkward, ungainly even among the uncouth about him. Very grotesque in his ways, it was reserved for this strange being, late in life, without name or fame, or ordinary preparation, to be snatched from obscurity, raised to supreme command and entrusted with the destiny of a nation."

The class oration "Through Thorns To Honor," was given by Mae Horton Young.

"Difficulties must be overcome if victory is achieved. In this respect we are all equally favored by the Great Master. On whichever pathway of life we choose to go we will find beautiful flowers with their resplendent odors to lure us on. But even with all that is beautiful and lovely to encurage us to high attainment, our road shall have its thorns to hinder, its difficulties to dishearten, its obstacles to surmount.. The history of the world is like a magic lantern that shows to us in vivid pictures upon a dark background, how the benefactors of mankind, the martyrs of genius have traveled this thorny road to honor."

Country and City.

Thomas Sherwood Chapman then delivered an oration, "Country versus City." In part he said: "In order to have the strongest and best brain power, there must be a sound body, and observation shows the conditions necessary for this are found only near the heart of nature. In past years it has been demonstrated that the most influential men have been those who have had the pleasure of rural advantages. Something however, is to be said for the city, for men are social and sympathetic. They desire not only pleasure, but culture and education to develop the best that is in them. Science and literature center in the city where man reaches his highest condition and social influence. It is the most attractive place for the business and professional men, but here we find men from the country occupying the front rank."

"Young Man, Look Ahead," was the subject of an oration given by John W. Withrow. His subject was taken from the advice which Phil Armour, the great beef packer, of Chicago, gave to one of his employes. In part Mr. Withrow said:

"No better advice was ever given to a young man. It epitomized the success of every man, who had done anything worth while. Everything lies ahead, for what is behind is passed, except as it may enable us to anticipate the future. A young man may have a broad and varied experience, but experience counts for nothing unless it is employed in making progress in going forward."

The next number, a vocal solo by Mrs. C. L. Allen, was appreciated. This was followed by an oration, "National Honor," by Gus A. Scherger. He said.

"From the darkness and superstition of past ages the character of national honor has arisen directly, as the people have become educated and civilized, so that in our day it means infinitely more than it did years and centuries past. Human progress and an elevated sense of right in nations go hand in hand. In our form of government it is essential that we maintain the highest standard in order that we may be an example to other nations."

This was followed by the valedictory by Ruth Stella Baker. In behalf of the class of 1912, Miss Baker thanked the board of education for what privileges the class had enjoyed, the teacher for the interest he had taken in the class. In part she said:

"Tonight, we launch our crafts away from the master builder's hands. We go tonight to battle with the waves where you will not be present to assist. Our own eyes must watch the compass and scan the chart. Our own hands must hold the rudder. Then, kind and faithful teacher, farewell."

W. P. Moloney then delivered the class address. This was followed by the presentation of the diplomas by Rev. T. J. Carey.

To remove rust from kettles, fill them with hay, packed tightly, fill in with boiling water and let boil for several hours.

But the undoing of the work that Satan finds for idle hands to do furnishes employment for a lot of other people

WILLIAM M. JACKSON IN BANKRUPT COURT

His Liabilities $26,484 and Assets $10,400.

JACKSON LEAVES TOLEDO FOR PORTLAND

Petitioner in Bankruptcy Has a Spectacular Financial Career Here—Creditors Are Chiefly Marion and Toledo People—Largest Creditor Salt Lake City Man.

William M. Jackson, formerly of Marion, whose career financially has been spectacular, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in Toledo, with liabilities of $26,484 and assets consisting of a $10,000 life insurance policy and furniture valued at $400. The petition was filed last Friday. The following Monday, Mr. Jackson left for his future home in Portland, Oregon. News of the bankruptcy petition being filed was received here Friday. When here during the fore part of last week, Mr. Jackson told Referee-in-Bankruptcy Hoke W. Donithen that he was going to Portland, Oregon, to live. He said nothing about going into bankruptcy at that time, however.

The insurance policy is in the Equitable, and is made payable to Lettie M. Jackson, the bankrupt's wife.

The list of creditors totals seventy-five, the creditors being mostly Marion and Toledo people. A number of the creditors are widely scattered. None of the amounts of the local creditors is large.

The largest creditor is Frank J. Gustin, of Salt Lake City, Utah, who holds a note for $12,000, given for stock in the Lincoln Gold Mining company, the mine of which was said to be located at Lincoln, Nevada. While a list of the creditors has not been received by Referee Donithen, it is known that H. M. Rubins, of LaRue, Jackson's brother-in-law, has a claim as administrator of the Rubins estate for $1,500. Leslie Ramage, of Kenton, has two notes for $1,650, while the Bank of Pioche, at Pioche, Nevada, holds a note for $3,000, and C. K. Hershey, of Los Angeles, California, has a claim for $2,000.

The first hearing of creditors will be held Monday, April 29.

Bad Backs Made Strong—Kidney Ills Corrected

All over Marion you hear it Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work, curing weak kidneys, driving away backache, correcting urinary ills. —Marion people are telling about it—telling of bad backs made sound again. You can believe the testimony of your own townspeople. They tell it for the benefit of you who are suffering. If your back aches, if you feel lame, sore and miserable, if the kidneys act too frequently, or passages are painful, scanty and off color, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has helped so many of your friends and neighbors. Follow this Marion citizen's advice and give Doan's a chance to do the same for you.

J. N. Reed, 103 Home St., Marion, Ohio says: "Daan's Kidney Pills still have my heartiest endorsement. I have used them on several occasions since giving my former statement and they have never failed to relieve me. I willingly verify all I said in their behalf at that time, for the benefit of other kidney sufferers. I was taken with an acute attack of backache which greatly annoyed me when I stooped and in the morning when I first got up, I felt lame and sore. Reading about Doan's Kidney Pills, I began their use and to my surprise, one box gave me perfect relief."

AMERICA STILL THE LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

One hears frequently nowadays that this is no longer the land of opportunity For this reason rather than because of a comment favorably upon a promising career it is a pleasure to cite occasionally instances which show the pessimists to be as usual in the wrong Less than a quarter of a century ago a little lad in the village of Athens Ohio became the owner of a news paper route He was a hustler—cheery obliging with a smile that made people walk a block out of their way to buy hen papers of Sammy McCune He was alert ambitious and industrious In a little while he owned several routes and had less enterprising boys working for him Before he was out of his teens he own d the only new agency in the town It sent him through college comfortably enabled him to help the home folks and start a banking account When he graduated a place in a local bank was awaiting him Naturally with his temperament he went into politics not as an office seeker but as one having a stake in the country and a responsibility in connection with it Then he was made a national bank examiner He liked the place and set himself to become the best man the government had in that line He made good of course He was thorough efficient unusually rapid and an expert He made friends of the honest bankers and sent many dishonest ones to the penitentiary He proved superior to favoritism and incorruptible When he resigned to become superintendent of the Cincinnati Clearing House association the United States government declined to accept his resignation but gave him an indefinite leave of absence expressing the hope that he might return some day to its service Now still under forty Sammy McCune with the same cheery smile the same modest manner the same ambitious hustler is the vice president and managing head of one of Cincinnati's biggest banks and slated for higher honors This is still the land of opportunity for those who are willing to work for and deserve success

HENRY T. DAVISON IS VICTIN OF DISASTER

Mrs Davison Is Saved and Is with Her Sister

STORY OF SINKING OF OCEAN GREYHOUND

Graphic Description of Conditions Aboard Ship When the Passengers Learn That Boat Is Sinking—Mr and Mrs Davison Enroute to Marion at Time of Accident.

Mrs Henry Thomas Davison of Chippenham Wiltshireborough, England a sister of Mrs Fred Baillis, of No 312 west Columbia street, this city was among the Carpathia s survivors of the Titanic tragedy, but her husband was one of those brave men aboard the mighty ocean greyhound to give up his life that the women and children might live

Mrs Davison is being succored at a junior league headquarters in New York City She told this story of the horror

Story of Horror.

We were among the last to leave We had retired when the crash came Harry threw on some clothing and started on deck to see what was the matter Then the lights went out He was back in a minute and shouted to me to come on deck We had hit an iceberg he said I didn t hear any more, for a woman started to scream and everyone was rushing about like mad

I was frightened and didn t take time to dress As we came on the deck we saw men and women fighting about the lifeboats Some of the boat were lowered and everyone was shouting and pushing about the boat Harry pulled me into a crowd that was struggling about one of the boats that was being loaded One of the officers kept crying Women first Get back Women first'

Then someone grabbed me and threw me into the boat I was terribly excited and didn t notice how many boats were left, but as we were being lowered I saw other boats pulling off under us and heard shouts from other boats that seemed a long ways out

Man Leaps into Water

As we came to the water I heard something whirl over us and strike the water It was a man The boat was crowded there being thirty five in it and we couldn t turn around to look back Some were standing up, and as we pushed off the boat listed and took water It was frightfully cold and all the women in our boat were scantily clothed Nearly all were women and there were only three sailors

Some of the women tried to help the sailors row, but we didn t make much headway It seemed hours before the Titanic sank, but we had not got far away Its stern came up high then here was an explosion I couldn t see well I was thinking of Harry but it seemed that it jumped forward and down

Hear Screams of Drowning

We felt the suction of the water and we heard screams back of us I couldn t turn around, but some of the men said two boats had gone down but we couldn t turn back for we were overcrowded

The cold was intense We were afraid to move for fear of sinking the boat Water kept coming into it until there were several inches on the bottom Ice bumped against us at times It seemed dawn never would come The sailors kept rowing all night The strain was terrible A woman fainted and a man began to laugh and sob toward morning They talked of throwing him out My arms and legs lost all feeling and things are blurred in my memory It is too horrible to think about

After daylight we saw some of the other boats They were all a long way off There was nothing of the Titanic It seemed long in the afternoon before the Carpathia came out to us There was no cheering in our boat We all felt that it was too big a thing to even cheer for being rescued at last It could not have lasted much longer

Mrs Davison is a daughter of Mrs Charles Fink No 4106 east 131st street Cleveland and visited her sister Mrs Baillis of this city about four years ago

The Last Letter

April 4 just six days before Mrs Davison and her husband set sail on the Titanic for the United States the following hurriedly written message was mailed to Mrs Baillis at Chippenham

Dear Alice and Fred Just an other line to say we are sailing on the 10th of April on the Titanic from Southampton so by the time you get this letter we shall be well on our way We shall get to New York about the 17th

We have just finished packing the boxes To please God we shall soon see you again so good-by

Harry and Mary

Mrs Baillis left last Wednesday for New York and is now with her sister in the Junior league headquarters

MADAM NORDICA CALLS AT THE HOTEL NORDICA

Is Attracted by the Name on the Front of Hotel.

HOSTELRY NAMED AFTER GREAT SINGER

Madam Nordica Is Taken from Hotel to Home of Herman Kalkbrenner Where She Sings a Number of Selections and Hears Miss Kalkbrenner Sing.

Catching a glimpse of the name on the front of Hotel Nordica as she came into Marion from Columbus, Thursday afternoon Madam Nordica s curiosity was aroused and when the train stopped at the union station, the world celebrated singer made her way to the little hostelry She was accompanied by her manager, another gentleman and her maid

Entering the front door she made herself known to Herman Kalkbrenner the proprietor and said

Please tell me why the name is painted in big letters on the building front?'

Mr Kalkbrenner replied that the hotel was named in her honor

When Mr Hermann remodeled this building about twenty years ago' explained Mr Kalkbrenner

Madame Nordica, you were singing in Columbus, and some one suggested that he name the hotel after you And that s been its name ever since

Oh thank thank you, responded the great singer

Mr Kalkbrenner invited Madam Nordica and her party to his home nearby as the madam was going to Lima and had to wait here two or three hours for her train She was received at the Kalkbrenner home by Mrs Kalkbrenner and her daughter Miss Marguerite who is a student in the Ursuline seminary at Tiffin

Madam Nordica delighted the Kalkbrenners with a solo and insisted on hearing their daughter who is an accomplished musician and vocalist, sing for her Miss Marguerite realizing that she was singing before one who had sung before the crowned heads of Europe and who had the musical world at her feet sang with all her power Madam Nordica listened intently and was profuse in her congratulations She urged Miss Kalkbrenner to continue her voice culture declaring her voice to be rich and full

Before Madam Nordica left she said she would like to have a picture of the hotel There will always be a tender spot in my heart for this place she said Can t we take a picture of it with me standing in front?'

Proprietor Kalkbrenner hurriedly sent for a photographer and a picture was taken of the place with Madam Nordica and her party, together with the members of the Kalkbrenner family standing in front of it Mr Kalkbrenner promised to send the noted singer half a dozen of the pictures and she gave him her permanent address

EMERY BRUNNER IS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Tries To Flag a Car with a Lighted Match Sunday Evening

CORNER OF CAR STRIKES THE VICTIM ON HEAD

Skull Is Crushed and Brain Is Exposed—Dying Man Is Brought to Marion for Surgical Attention Does Not Regain Consciousness and Dies in a Short Time.

When trying to attract Motorman C B Smith s attention with a lighted match at a point five miles north of the city along the tracks of the Columbus Marion & Bucyrus railway Sunday night shortly before 10 o clock Emery Brunner a farmhand aged twenty-two years, got closer to the rail than he realized and received injuries from which he died three hours later at the Marion City hospital on Blaine avenue

Brunner s parents Mr and Mrs John G Brunner reside in Upper Sandusky He had been to call on a young woman friend at the home of Mrs Olive Smith, on the Lucas road about two miles from the interurban right-of way He left the Smith home shortly after 9 o clock, and walked to the car line

As is customary in the country, he used a match to flag the car which was the last one to Marion The motorman did not see him in time to stop and Brunner failed to get back out of the way He was struck on the head by one corner of the car and hurled quite a distance His forehead was split open and his brain was exposed He was otherwise badly maimed about the body

Conductor Hair Lutz and Motorman Smith placed the mortally wounded man on their car and brought him to Marion He was removed in the Hess & Markett ambulance to the hospital where Dr A Rhu attended him The young man never regained consciousness

Besides his parents Brunner is survived by two brothers Frank Brunner of Marion and Earl Brunner of Upper Sandusky, and one sister Mrs Lillian Huggins of Lima

CAROUSALS LEAD TO DEATH OF A CHILD

Doctor's Statement as to Death of Little Florence I Payne

That the death of ten year old Florence Isabelle Payne at the home of her parents Mr and Mrs Arthur Payne No 227 Lincapher avenue, Saturday was indirectly due to shock caused by the unrestrained carousal of former neighbors who were compelled to move is the declaration of Dr Dana O Weeks the attending physician

Dr Weeks says that the little girl had apparently fully recovered from an attack of typhoid fever when her entire nervous system was shattered by the loud swearing and exciting clashes that marked the drunken orgies which made the night hideous in the neighborhood Complaint was made to the owners of the property and the disturbers were finally ejected But the nuisance was abated too late Dr Weeks states for the child had become almost a physical and mental wreck She lived in constant fear of the drunken men and women who are declared to have attended these midnight jamborees She died of acute meningitis in its most terrible form, according to the physician

Mr Payne father of the dead girl is a foreman employed by the Marion Steam Shovel company He is held in the highest respect by all who know him

The funeral services were held at the Wesley M E church Monday afternoon at 2 o clock Rev D H Kelly officiating Interment was made in the Canaan cemetery

GEORGE WHYSALL SUES TO RECOVER DAMAGES

Eli M. West Is Defendant in Action in Court.

WHYSALL TELLS STORY OF MANY TROUBLES

Says West Is Cause of False and Malicious Prosecution—Asks a Judgment for $25,000—Homer Berry Must Serve a Term of One Year in the Penitentiary.

A suit to recover personal damages in the sum of $25,000 from Eli M. West, Franklin county receiver for the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Railway company, because of alleged false and malicious charges made by West against him, was begun in the court of common pleas, Saturday, by George Whysall, Marion county receiver for the same railway.

Whysall avers that, in July, 1911, West, for the sole purpose of harrassing, annoying and intimidating him, made complaint under oath against him in Columbus that he, Whysall, had, with John G. Webb, Guy M. Walker and Curtis C. Williams, conspired to interfere with and hamper the administration of the C., D. & M. affairs by West, in violation and in contempt of an order issued by the court of common pleas of Franklin county.

As a result of this statement, made by West when under oath, Whysall says he was haled into court to show why he should not be adjudged in contempt. Whysall avers that this was done wrongfully, maliciously and without reasonable or probable cause. As a result Whysall says he was tried on these false charges and, upon the trial of the merits of the case, he was adjudged not guilty of contempt in accepting the appointment of receiver from Judge Daniel Babst in this court.

Receiver Whysall further avers that he had done nothing further than to accept the appointment and to furnish the required bond, but, not withstanding this fact, Receiver West, swore to the false and malicious charges.

Because of these false and malicious charges, Whysall says he was put to great cost and expense, employing counsel to defend him at an expenditure of $1,000 and was compelled to go to Columbus on three or four separate days. He says he suffered great humiliation and disgrace and injury to his feelings by being so falsely and maliciously charged, and being compelled to stand public trial, with West knowing him at the same time to be innocent of the charges made by him.

A suit to partition the estate of the late William C. Johnson was begun in the court of common pleas by Will H. Hunt and others, through Conley & Johnson, last Saturday. James H Holmes, William Holmes and others are named as defendants. The estate consists of two lots known as inlots Nos. 92 and 97 on north Main street.

Homer Berry, a physical giant, will have to serve one year at hard labor in the Ohio state penitentiary in Columbus, because he neglected his young wife and babe and refused to heed the admonitions of Judge William E. Scofield.

Berry was picked up by Sheriff John G. Stark, Saturday, and taken before the judge at the request of Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice. Last December, Berry was sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary for failing to provide at that time for the mother of his unborn child. The sentence was suspended, however, on Berry's promise to care for her and for the child yet to come into the world. But when the babe came, the father continued his neglect and complaint was made to the prosecutor.

Before ordering the sentence suspended, Judge Scofield heard the testimony of Berry's stepmother, Mrs. Preston Berry. Tearfully, the stepmother told a story of gross neglect of the mother and child on the part of her stepson. Berry, she said, had consorted with lewd women and had only paid $1.20 for the child's support within the past five weeks.

Asked by the court what he had to say for himself, Berry declared he had paid $10 instead of $1.20, but on cross-examination it developed this money had been paid for an old bill. Finally, Berry said he would take the child and provide for it if the court would give the child to him.

"What will you do for the mother?" asked the court.

"I guess the people that's been looking after her can take care of her," replied Berry.

Judge Scofield thereupon ordered that Berry's one year penitentiary sentence be enforced, and directed the sheriff to take him to Columbus forthwith.

County clerk Klinefelter was appointed trustee to receive the allowance of forty cents a day paid by the state for the support of the child while the father is in prison.

Judge William E. Scofield granted Bertie Blair a decree of divorce from Ffederick L. Blair and gave her $500 alimony, Saturday. The alimony is to be paid in installments of $10 a month. The Blairs were married in this city, December 6, 1910, and the wife begun her proceeding for a divorce, July 29, 1911. Gross neglect of duty and failure to provide were the grounds alleged.

Judge William E. Scofield has appointed Receiver Roscoe Oborn, of the Ohio Milling & Elevator company, master commissioner with power to reappraise the company's real estate located on Mill street. Mr. Oborn had recently made application for a reappraisement, claiming that the property had increased in value since the appraisement was made.

A stepmother's cruelty is the main ground on which Herbert E. Fields bases his allegations for a divorce from Jennie E. Fields, according to his petition filed by DeGolley & DeGolley, Friday morning.

Fields sets up that he was married to the defendant, November 13, 1909. At that time he had two small motherless children. He married to provide what he thought would be a suitable home for his children, he says, but declares that his wife, instead of being kind and affectionate to his little ones, was cruel and neglectful.

The plaintiff avers that he did everything within his power to make life pleasant for his second wife and to cause her to be a good wife and mother, but his efforts, he says, proved unavailing. He also says that she would repeatedly accuse him of consorting with lewd women, although she well knew her statements to be untrue.

On the ground of cruelty to his children and gross neglect of duty, the plaintiff therefore asks that he may be divorced.

Joseph Martin, who was indicted jointly with Frank Phillips for burglary, was not tried, Thursday, April 25, on account of the death and burial of Joseph Justice, father of Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice. Martin will be tried early in the next court term, which will begin Monday, May 13.

Hulburt S. Scoville, formerly baggagemaster at the union station, who disappeared a week ago, was made the defendant in an action for divorce by Mildred M. Scoville, through Mouser & Moloney, Saturday afternoon. She charges extreme cruelty.

The Scovilles were married in Delaware county, August 16, 1896, and they have one adopted child. The wife says that, although she has always conducted herself as a loving spouse, her husband on the contrary has been cruel to her; that, at various times during the last year, he has struck, cursed and otherwise mistreated her. She avers his cruelty continued until April 14, when he abandoned her, "taking with him all he could take."

The plaintiff says she believes the defendant to be at Wilston, North Dakota. She asks that he be barred of dower interest in fifty acres in Big Island township.

T. J. Ryan, W. T. Jones and Charles E. Gompf, who were appointed to reappraise the real estate of the defunct Ohio Milling & Elevator company Monday reported to the court that they had reappraised the property at $12,000. The former appraisement was considerably below this figure.

Monday, County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter and Sheriff John G. Stark drew the names of the grand and petit jurors for the May term of court, which will begin Monday, May 13, as follows.

Grand—H. W. Shrock, H. C. Krause, M. C. Chipps, Julius Butz, Roscoe Oborn, Felix Kiger, A. G. Moss and J. J. Hinamon, Marion; Marshall Markey and M. O. Watkins, Bowling Green township; Lewis Hummer, Tully township; Wilborn Tedrow and John Pommert, Claridon township; M. R. Anderson, Montgomery township, and George Benzler, pleasant township.

Petit—Harry Bibler, Michael Jacoby, W. G. Lusch, D. V. Lehman and R. M. Hipple, Marion; A. F. Goerlich, Marion township; Garrott Harris, Bowling Green township; E. G. Stockman, Prospect township; W. W. Hinds, Claridon township; M. K. Anthony, Waldo township; M. J. Moyal, Grand Prairie township; J. W. Kennedy, Big Island township; Simom Baker, Salt Rock township; C. H. Virden, Grand township, Adam F. Wollinger, Richland township, A. J. Manley and H. H. Freeman, of Montgomery township, John Jones, Peter Jacoby and Judd E. Bending, of Tully township.

Before leaving for Findlay, where he is holding court this week, Judge W. E. Scofield, Monday morning, directed Sheriff John G. Stark to hold for a week Homer Berry, whose one-year penitentiary sentence for non-support was suspended by him Saturday. The judge ordered Berry brought before him Saturday, and, after hearing further evidence of his alleged neglect of his child, instructed the sheriff to take him to prison. County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter made out all the papers and the sheriff intended to take Berry to the penitentiary Monday morning. Prosecuting Attorney C. L. Justice does not know why the court ordered Berry held here for a week, but the presumption is that the big-hearted judge may give the young fellow another chance.

Gus Fritch Hurt.

Gus Fritch, an employe of the Marion Steam Shovel company, was the victim of an accident while he was at work, Monday morning. He fell in such a manner as to suffer injury to his right shoulder and his right elbow. Surgical attention was required.

BIG PARTY PLATFORM.

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for April 28 Is, "The Beatitudes." Matthew 5:1-12. Golden Text Matthew 5:8.

Politics are engrossing the thought of men in the United States at the present time. The issue is one both of men and of platforms. With peculiar timeliness, there comes to the hosts of the Sunday-school this lesson of a convention held, 2,000 years ago, not in a bannered, garish, noisy hall, but on the green slope of a twin-crested hill, within sight of the glistening waters of Galilee. Then was laid down a platform of principles, drafted by the Candidate himself, upon which appeal was made for the suffrage of all the world.

The political cleavage of our time in all countries is along the line of radicalism versus conservatism; but the present-day distinctions are dim as compared with the sharp contrast between the radicalism of Jesus and the unyielding and tradition-bound conservatism of His day. The revolutionary utterances of the Teacher from Nazareth are difficult for us to understand since we are heirs to centuries of nominal acceptance of them. The eight Beatitudes, which are the summary of the Sermon on the Mount—that being the formal declaration of the principles of the party which Jesus established, ran directly counter to the accepted thought of the time. When delivered, they seemed not to supplement, but to antagonize the Law of Moses.

We may easily imagine a sophisticated ecclesiastical leader turning away from the Mount of Beatitudes, after hearing the deliverance of Jesus, and saying, "Well, if this upstart Rabbi thinks to win any votes by that kind of talk, he is going to be greatly undeceived." Thus has it ever been the way of the world to undervalue the power of new truth. We now know that the Beatitudes were far from being the last word of Christ; the Calvary plank in his platform was far more radical.

The Winning Party.

Lively as seems the present political campaign in the United States, it is, relatively, a tame and trivial affair. The issue which the carpenter's Son forced upon the world has been debated, in schools, by the roadside and on bloody battlefields, for well night 2,000 years. The arena steadily widens, and the ancient parties which taunted the young Radical and His innovations have grown continually weaker and weaker. Every day He is making increasing inroads into their lives. Today, the party of the Beatitudes, the party of idealism, the party of altruism, the party of the new life, is the winning crowd in the world.

There you have a great truth for consideration, as the study of the Beatitudes is undertaken. They are winning out. The principles of Jesus are commanding the votes of the world today. Despite the fact that it runs counter to all the natural disposition of mankind, and counter to the spirit of the times, and counter to the accepted code which spells worldly success, the platform of Jesus is being ratified all over the earth. Human society was never before so thoroughly penetrated with the ideals of the sermon on the mount as today. The broadest ground for optimism to be discovered by a student of the times is the vogue of the principles enunciated by Jesus. These are the yeast which has set the world of today in a ferment. Well may the cry of the ancient ruler be repeated, "O pale Galilean, thou has conquered!" Before the platform of Christ the Roman empire has fallen, and all ancient civilizations have yielded up their cruel and selfish usages.

Octave of Happiness.

In childhood we learn these Beatitudes which today millions of mature minds are studying. Here they are before us in their amazing brevity and simplicity; who would have thought them so revolutionary?

"Blessed are the poor in spirit; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

"Blessed are they that mourn; for they shall be comforted.

"Blessed are the meek; for they shall inherit the earth.

"Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness; for they shall be filled.

"Blessed are the merciful; for they shall obtain mercy.

"Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God.

"Blessed are they that have been persecuted for righteousness' sake; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye when men shall reproach you, and persecute you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely, for My sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad; for great is your reward in heaven; for so persecuted they the prophets that were before you."

Somebody has called these "the octave of happiness." They all, save one, represent qualities of character, and not of estate. They contradict the notion that things make happiness, for they are the law that the blessed are those possessed of certain spiritual characteristics. Especially noteworthy is the inherent nature of the reward; the Master does not say that those who fulfill the conditions which He lays down shall possess certain rewards. He says "Blessed are"—not "blessed shall be," but by the very fact of possessing humility, meekness, spiritual yearning, purity, and so forth, persons are already blessed, or happy. That is, the virtue is its own reward. The divine seal of approval, and guaranty of happiness, is upon all whose condition is described in the platform of Jesus.

Reversing the Conventions.

The whole world's modern mood of democracy receives justification in this comprehensive statement by the man from the carpenter shop. For the Beatitudes are pronounced to the plain people, the down-trodden under-class, the oppressed proletariat of the East. Dr. George R. Merril quotes one commentator as saying that, "Regarding these words, poor, meek, etc., they are all names for one and the same class, the poor of an oppressed country, the peasantry or fellahin, who then, as now, for the most part lived quiet and religious lives, but who were the victims of constant ill-treatment and plunder at the hands not only of tyrannical rulers but also of powerful and lawless neighbors."

The paradoxes of this platform have had vast social and political consequences. From this Magna Charta of democracy have sprung most of the movements for the emancipation of the common people from ancient thraldoms. This "upside-down" law of Jesus is turning the world right side up. By exalting the spiritual integrities which are embodied in the plain man, the fate of empires has been settled. Trace the course of the nations of our own time and it becomes plain that the peoples whose strength is in the character of the rank and file of their citizens are today dominating history. The sermon on the mount is good statesmanship.

Practicing One's Preachment.

"Impractical!" cries the man who prides himself upon his "hard-headedness," as he reads the Beatitudes. The best answer to the statement is not to point to the philosophers, modern and ancient, who have accepted the dicta of Jesus, but to point to the lives in which these teachings have been incorporated. There is no gainsaying fact. One instance outweighs all negative assertions.

To a singular degree, Jesus met the test of His own utterances. The candidate could stand upon the platform. The Beatitudes describe with rare accuracy the character of Christ Himself. He embodied His belief in a life before He formulated it into words. This inseparableness of Jesus from His gospel is one of the secrets of the hold which He has taken upon the race. From the cuneiform tablets of Babylonia, and from the sacred writings of India and China, some utterances have been extracted which somewhat resemble certain of the words of Jesus. They arouse no enthusiasm however, because they are not, like His, incarnated in a life. The practicality of the platform of Christ is proved by the life of Christ. His party not only subscribe to His doctrines but live them.

JOHN E. KEENER IS IN A PECK OF TROU

Must Answer to a Number Serious Charges.

BROUGHT TO MARION ON LOCAL WARR

A Review of Some of the Tra tions in Which It Is Alleged H Involved—Wanted at Mansfie He Furnishes Bond Here—S Notes from the Police Court

MRS. HARRY DAVIDSON TELLS TERRIBLE STORY

Lifeboat Not Full When Her Husband Is Left on Ship

THROWN INTO BOAT IN NIGHT CLOTHES

Sleeps in Passageway on Floor Aboard the Carpathia—Is Not Offered Extra Clothing and Wears Nightclothes and Sailor's Coat Until She Reaches New York.

The Cleveland Leader of Tuesday morning gives the following story of the sinking of the Titanic by Mrs Harry Davidson a sister of Mrs Fred Bailis, or west Columbia street this city

They killed my husband

They dragged him from my side, told him that there was room only for women in the lifeboats and then threw me into the boat There was room for fifteen or twenty more persons in our boat, the second from the last to leave

Mrs Harry Davidson daughter of John Fink, 4106 east 131st street who became a widow in the sinking of the Titanic was speaking She arrived here from New York yesterday morning and went to the home of her sister, Mrs Thomas Exton, 9 Interstate street Bedford

'Go along Mary I will be with you soon, Harry said, as they tore me away from him

"The shouts of the ship's company Women only will ring in my ears always For oh there was so much extra room in our lifeboat

'I had on only my nightclothes when I escaped A sailor on the lifeboat gave me a heavy coat This was all of the clothing that I had until I reached New York

"They didn't offer me any on the Carpathia The three nights that I spent on the Carpathia I slept on the floor in a passageway Other women did the same Mr Ismay, manager of the Titanic's company, occupied a comfortable stateroom I was told too, by other survivors that he was one of the first to leave in the lifeboats

The food that we had on the Carpathia was good, but there wasn't much of it, at least in the part of the boat where I was It was a horror ship and a number died on board each day

There was no life belts in our berths on the Titanic A man gave me his own Harry didn't have any The lifeboat in which I escaped was not equipped with a light Had the night not been perfectly clear we might have drifted away and never would have been found

There was a dance given by the first-class passengers on the night of the disaster I guess the officers were not attending to their duty

I have been under the care of a doctor ever since I landed My ankle was sprained and I was badly bruised about the lower limbs when I was thrown into the boat Part of the time on the Carpathia I was unable to stand In addition I contracted a severe cold, for ice was all about us and I had no covering over my thin night clothing part of the time that I was in the lifeboat

'Somehow I can't help believing that Harry yet will return We celebrated our tenth wedding anniversary on board the Titanic just two days before the vessel sank If I had only grabbed his coat and pulled him into the lifeboat with me'

Mr and Mrs Davison who had been living at Chippenham, England had planned to sail on the Oceanic but decided a few days before the Titanic started on her maiden trip to come over on the great liner

They planned to locate in Cleveland and all of their household goods were on board

TITANIC SURVIVORS PASS THROUGH CITY

One Child May Be One Saved by Colonel J J Astor

MOTHER PLEADS IN A BOAT FOR LITTLE ONE

Tall Man Picks Child Up and Tosses Him into the Arms of a Seaman Story of Wreck Told by Mrs. Oscar Johnson—No Complaint as to Treatment During Peril

The first survivors of the ill-fated liner Titanic to pass through Marion were on board the passenger train, No 3 Wednesday They were Mrs Oscar Johnson with her son aged four years a tiny daughter, one year old, and Miss Helemena Nelson a friend all of whom were saved from the fate of the hundreds on the unfortunate vessel Mrs Johnson believes she left the ship in the last lifeboat lowered

Mrs Johnson a Swedish woman, as is also Miss Nelson her companion was still nervous and troubled when she was seen here that morning, while enroute from New York to Chicago She is able to speak English very well and she gave a splendid story of the fearful disaster Her companion however, was unable to speak English Both gave evidences of the nerve-wrecking experience they had undergone but were able to give an intimate view of the disaster

With the party passing through here was the husband of Mrs Johnson who went from Chicago to New York to meet her Perhaps no happier man could be pictured His joy over the fact that his wife and children had been saved was great

Not the least important feature in the story told by Mrs Johnson is that relating to the lowering of the lifeboat while her four-year-old son Harold was still on board the Titanic The little fellow is believed by many to be the same child whom John Jacob Astor saved by a subterfuge It will be remembered that the early account of the catastrophe told of how a little boy had been left aboard the big liner while his mother was in a lifeboat pleading for her child Astor seized a girl's hat lying on the deck placed it on the boy's head and holding him up in his arms, asked the lifeboat crew

You would not leave a little girl behind would you?

According to the story the child was then allowed to enter the lifeboat with the mother

Mother's Pleadings

In the case of Mrs Johnson's child the frantic cries of the mother and her pleadings for the little one who had been left aboard the vessel tally strikingly with the press descriptions of the boy saved by Colonel Astor A man held up the Johnson boy in his arms and then at a signal from the lifeboat crew tossed him into the arms of a big seaman who turned him over to the pleading mother The little daughter Eleanor is her name was in the arms of the mother She was without suitable clothing and in fact almost without any clothing Very kind passengers on the lifeboat provided for her needs and despite chilling experience the babe is well

Mrs Johnson says she did not notice any particular shock when the ship struck the iceberg That something had happened was apparent however She grasped her baby and came on deck where an officer treated her very kindly Food and drink were provided and every attention was given The band was playing It appeared that nothing had happened for a time Mrs Johnson says but within a short time fear was manifested by the passengers and the officers began to get the women and children off in lifeboats The last hours before the sinking of the boat were something terrible The cries and moans of terror were pitiful in the extreme

Only One Oar in Boat

Only one oar was available on the lifeboat on which Mrs Johnson was cared for until the survivors were taken on board the Carpathia When the boat was sent out between twenty five and thirty people were on board and they took turns in using the single oar With some difficulty the frightened passengers made their way from the place where a little later the Titanic sank to the bottom One seaman a fireman was on board

Mrs Johnson believes that Mrs John Jacob Astor was on the lifeboat although the newspaper reports state that Mrs Astor was saved on one of the other boats Mrs Johnson is inclined to believe from the pictures she had seen of Mrs Astor that she was on board the lifeboat with her and that she took a turn or two at the oar

Pulling away from the scene of the awful disaster, the boat gathered up more passengers, chiefly women who called for help from the water When succor was given by the Carpathia there were eighty-six passengers about fifty-six having been picked up

The lifeboat leaked, Mrs Johnson says and there was some water in the bottom The leak was not large enough to be dangerous and the passengers were not disturbed on account of it Many, however had damp feet and in some cases the passengers suffered frosted feet Mrs Johnson being among them Some suffered considerably before they were taken on board the Carpathia

On Rescue Ship

Once on board the rescue ship the passengers gathered from the various lifeboats, were given every attention Mrs Johnson paid a fine tribute to the officers and others on this vessel No effort was spared to make the survivors comfortable and to quell the excitement which prevailed

Arriving in New York some of the survivors were transferred to St Lukes hospital There Mrs Johnson says every attention was given them

The Erie Railroad company which will transport some of the survivors to points in the Northwest as soon as they are in condition to go will make special provisions for accommodating them Mrs Johnson was greatly pleased with the provisions for her welfare through here A great many of the survivors who were in destitute circumstances she says have been provided for by charitable organizations and individuals

Mrs Johnson spoke feelingly of those whom she had seen and had come to know quite intimately and who had lost their lives Her escape from death was narrow for it was only a short time after the last boat had been lowered that the Titanic sank

Mrs Johnson and Miss Nelson will likely locate in Minnesota

TAKES A VEILED RAP AT COLONEL

Franklin W Hobbs Discusses Radicalism

SEEDS OF DISCONTENT SOWN BY AGITATORS

Roosevelt Hinted at as Being the Leader

Dissatisfaction Aroused by Speeches of Certain Demagogues Throughout Country Adds Socialism and Even Anarchy to Followers After the Sensational and Radical Beliefs Expressed by Others

Boston April 24 Sharp criticism of the political principles of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt although the former president was not mentioned by name fell from the lips of Franklin W Hobbs president of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers in his address to delegates to the national convention of the association in Mechanics Hall building Mr Hobbs references to the colonels platform caused a sensation

Toward the end of his address the association s president said

We may well pause a moment to consider some phases of the way in which radicalism has swept over the country in fact I may say over the world for it does not seem to be limited to any country or people In our own country there has been so much talk and so much denunciation of the established order of things that one naturally begins to wonder if after all this nation and its form of government are failures

So much has been said about the rule of the people that we are almost led to believe that our rights have been taken away from us It is claimed that we need new laws new methods and a general overturning of old customs It seems to me however that we do not need new laws nor more laws we do not need new methods nor quicker methods of making laws but that we do need greater respect for the laws already existing and a firmer belief in law and order itself

Act of Demagogues

It is now claimed by some that the people can never do wrong and that their opinion often expressed under stress of excitement or swayed by the misrepresentations of demagogues shall prevail regardless of law and that if the courts decide that such an expression is illegal so much the worse for the courts for it is now proposed to make the decisions of the courts themselves amendable to popular clamor If such things come to pass of what value are the principles of justice embodied in our common laws for the protection of all and why have a written constitution sacredly agreed to by the representatives of all the people in order to safeguard the rights of the minority as well as the rights of those temporarily in the majority?

It seems clear to me that as a result of this talk criticism and denunciation on the part of politicians and demagogues there has followed quite naturally a growth of Socialistic ideas and Socialism throughout the country

Discontent Is Sown

The agitators have sown discontent and dissatisfaction and the country is reaping Socialism and anarchy I believe it our duty to take heed and to do our part to lead the people back to their old moorings and to see that care is restored in the leaders When that has been done we shall have industrial and political peace and prosperity will be with us as before

The convention will last two days The delegates were formally welcomed by Mayor Fitzgerald and the responses to the mayors address delivered by William A Erwin of West Durham North Carolina

Aside from the political phase of the address President Hobbs spoke of the unsatisfactory condition of the cotton textile industry but said that he as well as other business men felt sure that depression is now at an end and that this country is entering upon a period of prosperity

Speaking of textile mill hygiene condition which were discussed so widely during the Lawrence Massachusetts strike President Hobbs said that we find contented happy well paid people working in luxurious well lighted and ventilated rooms and good surroundings

STATE GETS SOME STRONG EVIDENCE

Fails However To Secure Indictments in Bribery Cases

Columbus O April 24 Though the Franklin county grand jury reported without returning a single indictment against legislators either in connection with a perjury inquiry or further graft exposure it is said one of the solons who testified gave a complete story as to the alleged attempt of indicted assemblymen to fix up a line of defense after they had been charged with bribery last spring He also is said to have made disclosures relative to the Senator Huffman affair

The result of the investigation is admitted by both Prosecutor Turner and Attorney General Hogan to have been a complete success and much more satisfactory than they had anticipated

This announcement coupled with the fact that no indictments were returned is taken as conclusive that the state is now in possession of facts some of which it has sought to learn for nearly a year and which it lacked in the Huffman case These will be used it is said in breaking down the alibi established by the accused solon which is said to have been the ground for the jury reporting a disagreement This evidence will be used in the retrial of Senator Huffman scheduled to begin May 6

CHEATS SAVAGE MOORS OF PREY

Flash Operator Kills Companions at Fez

SLAYS THEM TO AVOID CAPTURE

The Operator Then Turns Gun on Himself

Four French Radiographers Put Up Brilliant Fight Against Great Odds—Draw Lots To See Which Man Shall Kill Others To Avoid Falling into Hands of Moors Who Are Pressing Close

Tangier April 24 The story printed to the effect that the French radiographers at Fez were not killed by the Moors but that they were killed by a comrade who afterwards committed suicide is confirmed

The four men had one revolver between them but had plenty of ammunition They put up a brilliant fight and had killed 1 of the Moors when the latter climbed on the roof of the wireless building They bored a hole through the roof and began pouring blazing oil on the floor below

Seeing that their capture was inevitable and knowing the horrible fate in store for them the wireless men resolved to die They drew lots to see which one should use the revolver on his comrades The lot fell to one of them named Reboul He immediately shot his three comrades and then turned the revolver on himself The wound did not prove fatal and after the mutiny had been put down Reboul was found by the troops and taken to the hospital He was just able to finish his story at the hospital before he died

A WATCHMAN KILLED BY FALLING WALLS

Fire Does Damage of $500 000 to a Columbus Shoe Factory

Columbus O April 24 Time Arnold a watchman was killed and seven firemen were injured fighting a $500 000 blaze which early today destroyed the Charles Edwards shoe factory Several hundred women employed in the plant escaped by using fire escapes on the outside of the building Several fire companies were rushed to the scene but the blaze gained headway rapidly and was soon beyond control of the firemen

The origin of the blaze is unknown

Convention Makes It Easier To Amend Constitution

MAJORITY VOTE IS MADE NECESSARY

Taggart Proposal Is Adopted by Convention

The Proposal Gives Legislature the Power To Submit Proposed Amendments to Constitution to People—Judge Dwyer Wants To Impeach Jurists Who Are Known To Become Intoxicated

Columbus O April 24 If the Taggart proposal adopted by the constitutional convention is ratified by the people at the poll Ohios new constitution will be made much easier of amendment It provides a method of changing the organic law of the state quite separate and apart from the method of alteration made possible by the use of the initiative and referendum If both the Taggart proposal and the I and R are adopted it probably will be many many years before another constitutional convention is held in the state

Provision similar to the present one for a constitutional convention is made and it is provided that future conventions must be like the present nonpartisan The question of calling a convention is to be submitted to the people every 20 years Under the proposal political parties are prevented from indorsing proposed amendments and they are to be ratified by a majority of those voting on the proposition and not by a majority voting at the election as is now the case

Either branch of the general assembly may propose amendments Concurrence of three fifths of the members elected to each house is required for submission to the people Under the proposal the question of calling a new convention will not again be resubmitted until 1932 The principal change making the constitution easier of amendment is the provision which requires for adoption by the people only a majority of those voting on a proposition instead of a majority of those voting at an election It was declared by delegates that the inconvenience of making changes was the principal difficulty with both the Ohio constitution of 1851 and the federal constitution

Provides Eight Hour Day

An eight hour workday for employes of public works is provided for in the constitutional amendment offered by Delegate Tetlow of Columbiana county which was passed

The convention quickly defeated the recall and indefinitely postponed the proposal of Delegate Watson of Guernsey county by a vote of 97 to 45 The motion to postpone was made by Delegate King of Sandusky and was passed without debate Delegates opposed to the recall declared that its incorporation into the work of the convention would tend to defeat the conventions work when voted on by the people of the state

The Cordes proposal embodying in the constitution provisions almost similar to the present employers liability law was adopted by the convention

Because of a conflict in the provisions of sections of Judge Dwyers impeachment proposal it was referred to a special committee consisting of Messrs Dwyer Peck Fackler Hoskin and Brown of Lucas for redrafting Mr Fackler submitted an amendment which was adopted providing for removal of judges by the governor [illegible] constitution inattention to duties and intoxication His original amendment read intoxication while attending to the business of the court Mr Stevens said there was no reason why a judge should maintain a reasonable degree of sobriety off or on the bench and made the provision refer to intoxication

CREW OF OLYMPIC REFUSES TO SAIL

Declares Big Liner Doesnt Carry Enough Lifeboats

Southampton Eng April 24—The departure of the White Star liner Olympic sister ship of the late Titanic was delayed several hours today when the 100 firemen on board refused to go to their posts declaring that the liner did not carry enough lifeboats to accommodate all on board Others of the crew protested against the collapsible boats saying they were not safe They demanded wooden boats

There are 1 400 passengers on the Olympic among them the Duke of Sutherland and many other prominent persons

Manager Curry of the local White Star offices addressed the firemen but still many of them refused to sail and their places were filled by others

After leaving her dock the Olympic proceeded a short distance and cast anchor meanwhile communicating with the White Star offices on shore and ordered many more firemen and oilers to be gathered and sent out to the ship on launches Captain Haddock feared that if he did not get under way the entire crew would desert the ship

ROOSEVELT WOULD SAVE GOVERNMENT

Says What He Would Do If Again Put in Office

CAN T REPUDIATE GEORGE W PERKINS

Official Report Admits That the Harvester Trust and Morgan Interests Are Financing Roosevelt Campaign—Taft Does Things While Colonel Talks

Washington April 24—Colonel Roosevelt urges again and again the necessity for his reelection now to save the United States government from being wrecked by President Taft and its people from enslavement by the trusts This makes pertinent several questions

What reform now is necessary to our salvation which the colonel could not have introduced during his own seven years of power which ended three years ago?

Which of the Roosevelt policies for the righting of the wrongs to which he so powerfully called attention and left it to his successor to correct has President Taft failed to carry on?

One of my policies was the correction of the inhumanity of child labor The colonel has charged since he threw his hat in the ring as a prizefighter that the president has neglected it The fact is that Mr Taft by message and personal effort promoted the enactment of the child labor law Mr Roosevelt made the same charge ten days ago on the day after the law was given the president s signature

Would he be more than the president to conserve natural resources for our children s children?

Mr Taft has a careful and business like policy of which the colonel has not yet shown himself capable made reservations of areas and depths to end those advocated by his predecessor Does the colonel desire that he not again be head forester?

Removal Necessary

Mr Pinchot while in that office under Mr Ballinger insisted upon violating the law s giving control of the national domain and when ruled by the head of the interior department dressed an appeal reflected upon This made him insubordinate with other charges filed by Democrat Secretary Ballinger and dismissed from the prejudiced committee examined and conspiracy reinstated Soudan colonel be African

Attacks Treaties

Then Colonel Roosevelt attacked the treaties in his magazine and in speeches and his campaign manager, Senator Dick on attacked them in the senate defeating them

Was this necessary to the saving of the United States government?

How many of the postmasters and other federal officeholders now denounced by the ex president Taft criminals stealing the rights of the people by electing Taft delegates were quietly active in the year when thought laudable—of stealing the election of the delegates which renominated the colonel in 1904?

More than half of the postmasters now in office are Roosevelt appointees Has criminality suddenly become contagious with them Four years ago he urged them to support Mr Taft Will then be source of contamination crime?

CHICAGO.

Chicago, April 25.—Wheat was choppy around the opening of today's session with prices averaging higher. Steady cables and bad crop reports from the winter states together with light receipts caused an upturn of ¼@½c, but the advance was quickly lost on selling by commission houses.

Corn led in strength. Shorts were free buyers and cash demand was urgent.

Oats were up ⅛ to ⅜c. Sympathy with corn was the most noticeable feature.

Provisions were higher, mainly on shorts covering, although hogs were a shade better.

Wheat—May, 1.14⅛ to ⅛; July 1.10⅞; Sept., 1.06.

Corn—May, 79½ to 80; July, 77⅜ to 77½; Sept., 75⅛ to 75⅜.

Oats—May, 57⅜ to ⅝; July, 54½ to ⅝; Sept., 44⅛ to ⅜.

Pork—July, 18.67; Sept., 18.77 to 18.82.

Lard—May, 10.37; July, 10.60 to 10.52; Sept., 10.75 to 10.80.

Ribs—July, 10.25; Sept., 10.42 @ 10.45.

Wheat closed showing gains ranging from ⅛ to ½c with a strong undertone. The market was somewhat irregular and nervous throughout the session. Commission houses were on both sides. Crop news was rather mixed, but the damage reports carried the most weight.

Corn closed strong with advances of 1¾c for May and ¾c for July and September. The May shorts were in a rush to cover their lines. Offerings were tightly held and this contributed to the strength.

Oats finished unchanged to ⅛@¼c better. Trade, while active in the September option, was smaller in the other months. Features were lacking.

Provisions were higher all around. Good buying on investment account contributed the strength.

Wheat—May 1.14¼; July 1.10⅞@⅞; Sept., 1.06¼.

Corn—May, 80¾; July, 77⅞; Sept., 75¾.

Oats—May 57⅜@⅞; July 54⅜@½; Sept., 44⅛.

Pork—May, 18.50; July, 18.80; Sept., 18.92.

Lard—May, 10.50; July, 10.70; Sept., 10.90.

Ribs—May, 10.02; July, 10.30; Sept., 10.50.

TOLEDO.

Toledo, O., April 25.—Wheat—Cash and May 1.16½; July, 1.16¼; Sept., 1.11⅝.

Corn—Cash, 82½; May, 82¾; July, 79¾; Sept., 77¾.

A GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY AFFAIR

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Shute Host and Hostess.

A LARGE COMPANY ENJOYS AN EVENING

Time Is Passed in Pleasant Social Diversions—Mr. and Mrs. Shute Are Residents of Marion Many Years—Both Are in Very Good Health—Their Family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Shute celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home at No. 301 south Main street, Wednesday, and in honor of the event a company of their relatives and friends gathered at their home in the evening. A very happy time was spent in the enjoyment of social pleasures and visiting. At a seasonable hour, a luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Shute were well remembered.

Those enjoying the hours with Mr and Mrs Shute were Mrs. T. B. Cashell, and little son, Harry, of Raymond; Rev and Mrs. G. M. Rourke, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Marsh, Mr. and Mrs S. D. Young, Mr. and Mrs. William Nippert and little daughter, Mrs. W. T. Mereness, Mrs. Fred W. Peters, Mrs. Marcy, Mrs. George Starner, Mrs. R. M. Shute and daughter, Nadine; Mrs. E. T. Boyd and children, Paul G. Robert, Joseph A., Clarence A., and Mary Alice; Miss Nora Marsh, Miss Nan Marsh, Miss Carrie Bain and Miss Nellie Bain.

Mr. Shute, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Shute, of this county, now deceased, was married to Miss Mary E. Carriher, of Union county, April 24, 1862, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Carriher. August 6 of the same year Mr. Shute enlisted in E company, Ninety-Sixth regiment, O. V. I., for three years. He remained in the service two years and eleven months, or until the close of the war. After he returned from the war he moved from the farm to LaRue and later to Marion in 1879, where they have since resided. Mr. Shute is a carpenter by trade, but retired from active work about three years ago. He has been a member of the choir of the First Presbyterian church thirty-two years. Both Mr. and Mrs. Shute are enjoying very good health and look much younger than their years, Mr. Shute being seventy-three years of age and Mrs. Shute seventy-five. They have four children, Roland M. Shute, of east Church street; Mrs. E. T. Boyd, of Mt. Vernon avenue; George H. Shute, of Alliance; and Mrs. T. B. Cashell, of Raymond, Union county.

Mr. Shute's sister and husband, Mr and Mrs. D. H. Kreck, of Rushsylvania, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary eight years ago.

MRS. W. A. LANGSTAFF DIES NEAR RICHWOOD

Death Follows an Illness of About Two Weeks.

Mrs William A. Langstaff, a member of Lydia Chapter, No 83, Order of the Eastern Star, and well known in this city, died of measles and double pneumonia at her home, five miles north of Richwood, Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. She had been ill two weeks.

An only daughter, Miss Lottie Langstaff, who is also a member of Lydia chapter, is convalescing from an attack of the measles. The mother contracted the malady in nursing the daughter, and then double pneumonia followed. The attending physician held out little hope for her recovery.

The deceased is survived by her husband and daughter. She was born and raised in Union county and had lived where she died for many years.

The funeral service will be held at the Bethlehem church, near Richwood, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, followed by interment in the Richwood cemetery.

An Examination.

An examination for rural mail carriers to fill a vacancy at Martel, and other vacancies as they may occur on rural routes in this county, will be held at the local postoffice, May 11. The age limit for those taking the examination is from eighteen to fifty-five years on the date of the examination. The maximum age limit is waived in cases of persons honorably discharged from the United States military or naval service.

Marriage licenses have been issued Miss Cecelia Catherine Collins and James W. Robinson, and Miss Ella Rae Carey and James Foreman.

THE MARTIN HOME IS SCENE OF A GATHERING

Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Martin.

DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR FOR AN AGED COUPLE

Of Nine Children, All but One Are Present—Twelve Grandchildren Join in the Celebration—Time Is Passed in Social Diversions and a Big Dinner Is Served.

One of the happiest couples in Marion, Wednesday, was Mr. and Mrs. Christian Martin, of No. 155 Jefferson street, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, surrounded by their children and grandchildren. Of their nine children all were present with the exception of one daughter, Mrs. William Dunning of San Diego, California, and of their thirteen grandchildren, only one was absent.

The affair was one of the happiest ever enjoyed by the aged couple. During the afternoon a number of their friends dropped in to congratulate them on their long married life and wish them many more years together. At 6 o'clock, a sumptuous wedding dinner was served, covers being placed for thirty-five. Just before dinner was announced, Dr. S. H. Britton, one of the guests, presented Mr. and Mrs. Martin a purse of gold coins, a gift from their children. The evening was spent informally with music and visiting.

Those present from a distance were Mrs. David Martin and Mr. Martin Heil, of Columbus, brother and sister of Mrs. Martin; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin, of Edison; Mrs. Gilbert Martin and Miss Della Martin, of Caledonia. The latter two were among the callers during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin were married in this county April 24, 1862, by the late Rev. George Ruhl. They resided in Richland township up until twenty years ago when they moved to this city, where they have since resided. Mr. Martin was a carpenter contractor, but retired from active work about ten years ago. Mr. Martin is seventy-five years of age and his wife seventy. Both are enjoying fairly good health. They are the parents of nine children, Mrs. William Dunning, of San Diego, California; Frank Martin, of Edison; Mrs. Anna Haberman, Mrs. Henry Hochstetter; Mrs. George Baldauf, Mrs. L. A. Cull, Mrs. George H. Schweinfurth, George W. and William D. Martin, of Marion.

Mr. Martin is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Christian Martin of this county. Mrs. Martin is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Heil, of Morrow county, who celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1888. A sister of Mrs. Martin, the late Mrs. M. Crissinger, of Jay County, Indiana, celebrated her golden wedding anniversary a couple of years ago.

A marriage license has been issued to Miss Elizabeth Mary Cloud and Pearl H. Wingo, colored.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Louis William Colunber, of Clinton street, Wednesday.

Born, Thursday, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mahaffey, of Commercial street.

Error Found in Proceeding of George Tipton Against Jacob F. Lust and John DeTurk—The Judgment of Justice Is Reversed. Common Pleas Court Notes.

In the suit of Charles L. Justice, as receiver of the Marion Manufacturing company against Fidelia E. Sellers and Scoville S. Walker, an action to recover judgement on an assessment of the defunct company's stock, Judge Daniel Babst, of Crestline, in an order received by County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter, Thursday, finds that the defendants have an equity in lot No. 7199, in Houghton's first addition, and directs that this equity be sold and the proceeds applied to the payment of a judgment amounting to $210, with costs of interests.

Receiver Justice brought the action April 7, 1910. He set up that Mrs. Sellers deeded the property described to S. S. Walker, who held the property simply in trust for her in an effort to avoid the stock assessment.

In the error proceeding of George Tipton against Jacob F. Lust and John DeTurk, Judge Babst has found error in the proceedings before former Justice Charles H. Conley. He reversed the judgment of the court below in an order received from him by Clerk Klinefelter Thursday. The costs were assessed against the defendants-in-error. The petition in-error was filed by Tipton, through Attorney Louis E. Myers, July 13, 1910. In the justice's court, Lust and DeTurk obtained a judgment for $26.32 on an account, with costs amounting to $14.50. Their claim against Tipton was assigned to them by Milton H. Lust, a former grocer, who disappeared mysteriously about three years ago. Milton H. Lust is a son of Jacob F. Lust and a son-in-law of John DeTurk. Tipton testified that he had paid Lust, the grocer, who failed to give him a receipt, because he was in a hurry to catch a train.

Judge Daniel Babst has overruled a motion to dissolve a temporary injunction issued in the suit of Otto Schlagel, Ida C. Rossman, Barnhart Weber, Frederick Mechle, Charlotte Miley and George Wilt against County Auditor Jay Spaulding, County Treasurer R. S. Dombaugh and commissioners Frank P. Berringer, George Heimlick and J. A. Sycks, of the Berringer free turnpike. This is an action started last January to prevent the levying of any tax on the real or personal property of the plaintiffs, because they claim their real property is not within the original bounds of the road.

Judge Babst has overruled a motion to dissolve the temporary injunction granted in the suit of Simeon B. Rice against the board of county commissioners and others. In this action, begun September 13, 1907, Rice obtained a restraining order preventing the commissioners from constructing a ditch on his farm in Claridon township. He claimed that the construction of the proposed ditch would work an irreparable injury, for which he has no adequate remedy at law.

County Auditor Jay Spaulding, defendant in an action brought by Clayton D. McClung, has filed a demurrer to the petition and the amended petition, through Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice. He claims that neither states facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. McClung seeks to compel the auditor to issue a warrant on the treasurer for $300, which he claims is due him as damage allowed on the Little Scioto river improvement.

Alleging three-years wilful absence, Lulu R. Berry, through Attorney H. Edmund Hill, brought suit for divorce from Morris E. Berry, Wednesday evening. The Berrys were married in this county, October 25, 1908. No children were born to them. She asks to be restored to her former name of Imbody.

MANY NEW ROADS FOR MARION COUNTY

County Surveyor and Assistants Are Very Busy.

County Surveyor George E. Dwyer has a gang of men out in the country making levels for fourteen pikes, petitions for which have been granted by the county commissioners. Levels for seven of the pikes have already been made and Engineer Dwyer is now hurrying to finish the remaining seven, so that the contractors may go to work just as soon as the contracts for the construction work are let.

Marion county will have more than 100 miles of pike road if all the pike petitions are granted and the roads are built this summer. Scarcely a day goes by without some one appearing at the commissioners' office and making inquiry about the building of a new road.

A daughter was born, Sunday night, to Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Sycks, of Scofield Heights.
